Senators Set For New Cuts In Big Aid Bill

Smith Orders Closed Meeting of Foreign Relations Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign Relations Committee members gathered against a backdrop of ringing Senate debate today to stake out further changes in an already-cut foreign aid bill.

Acting Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) summoned the group to a closed Saturday session at 10:30 a.m. EDT to take up other portions of the multi-billion-dollar measure which the committee yesterday said could be slashed $347,708,000 without harming the nation's cold war aims.

On the agenda was a toned-down amendment by Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate majority leader, whose original demand that the United States walk out of the United Nations if Red China walks in set off a flurry of foreign policy arguments.

Flanders Speaks Out

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) hit on this issue yesterday while the Senate, for the second day in a row, was devoting a good share of its floor debate to the troubles America faces abroad.

Flanders said Congress and the administration should not use "weasel words" in opposing Peiping's possible seating in the U.N. "Let us say," he declared, "that when Communist China tears away its curtain and resumes intercourse with the Western world . . . then we should be willing to reconsider our objections. Such a China will not be a Communist China of today."

Knowland's present amendment, reportedly offered at administration urging, is a sharp modification of his original proposal which would have had Congress outline U.S. policy on the issue in advance. The amendment would state anew U.S. opposition to the admission of Red China to the U.N. and request President Eisenhower to call the signals for further action by Congress if that happens.

Total Over $3 Billion

The committee's tentative decision yesterday to order a $347,708,000 overall cut in the foreign aid bill left the measure's total at about $3,100,000,000, Smith said. The administration request totals roughly 3½ billion dollars.

Smith said the new cut would not apply to 109½ million dollars the senators voted to add to the measure and which the House had rejected. These items are 75 millions for the manufacture in England of military planes for NATO defense use; 27 millions for developing non-atomic special weapons

Proposal Gets Union Okay At Oak Ridge

Expect Government Attorneys To File for Taft-Hartley Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Striking CIO atomic workers at Paducah, Ky., were possible targets for a quick Taft-Hartley Law injunction today—only hours after a turndown of a back-to-work proposal worked out by Secretary of Labor Mitchell and union leaders.

Other strikers at Oak Ridge, Tenn., members of the same CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers Union, are going back to work, on condition they can walk out again if further bargaining fails.

Next Move Uncertain

Government attorneys had been prepared to go to court today to halt the strikes at the vital Atomic Energy Commission plants at Oak Ridge and Paducah. But with the developments early this morning at mass meetings by the two groups of strikers, in which one group accepted and the other turned down the government-union proposal, those attorneys reached were unable to say definitely what steps they would take next.

One Labor Department informant said an injunction "obviously" would not be lodged against the Oak Ridge group going back to work, but that a court order was likely to be sought against the Paducah strikers barring another late-hour change in circumstances.

Cover Entire Production

The two struck plants contain the country's entire facilities for refining uranium to get the material used in making both the atomic and hydrogen bombs, and President Eisenhower has said a continuing walkout would hurt the nation's drive for atomic supremacy. For the time being, the plants have been kept in full production by supervisory personnel.

The back-to-work proposal worked out by Mitchell, CIO President Walter Reuther and officials of the chemical workers group at secret Washington meetings yesterday was delivered to the two groups of strikers in separate meetings late last night.

At Paducah, only 10 of 500 workers who met on a main road leading to the atomic plant said they favored the recommendations. The proposals included no guarantee of a wage increase—the object of the strike.

Quiz Sheppard at Jail

Doctor Undergoes More Questioning

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard went to the Cuyahoga County jail today for more questioning in the week-old killing of his attractive, 31-year-old wife.

County Detective Carl Rossbach said the osteopath's latest statement would be taken down in writing and that he would be asked to sign it.

Previously the 30-year-old doctor had been questioned only in the presence of his attorneys and relatives, at Bay View Hospital and at his home.

Three tree-trimmers were questioned last night in connection with the killing of Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard, 30, but police were unable to link them with the brutal July 4 slaying.

A trio of fishermen who were fishing at a pier only 300 feet from the Sheppards' house during the night of the crime were called in to try to identify the tree-trimmers as men they reported seeing about three hours before the killing.

Not Same Men

The fishermen agreed the tree-trimmers were not the same men who had asked them about a picnic spot and then started walking from Huntington Beach, a public park, westward toward the Sheppard home.

Nor did any of the tree-trimmers answer the description Dr. Samuel Sheppard, husband of the victim, gave of the man he said "clobbered" him on the neck outside his wife's bedroom when he tried to go to her aid. Sheppard, an osteopath, described the man as bushy-haired and wearing a white shirt. The fishermen said that description fitted the spokesman for the group of men with whom they talked at the pier.

Sheppard Questioned

While divers raked Lake Erie's bottom from behind the Sheppards' Bay Village home in a vain attempt to find the weapon used to beat the 31-year-old mother, Dr. Sheppard re-enacted his part in the tragedy for police yesterday.

He told what Coroner Samuel R. Gerber described as substantially the same story he had given earlier: That he was dozing on a couch in the living room, heard his wife scream or groan, and started up the stairs only to be felled outside the bedroom by a blow on the neck. When he came to, he entered the bedroom and then heard a noise downstairs and ran down. He said he saw a man on the back porch and chased him to the beach where he again was knocked unconscious.

County Detective Carl Rossbach began his interview with Dr. Sheppard by telling him: "You are a suspect in your wife's murder."

"You don't think I killed her?" Dr. Sheppard cried. "My God, do you think I'd do that when we were expecting our baby?"

During his tour of the grounds, Dr. Sheppard objected to newsmen, photographers and others in the group.

Goodyear Drafting Answer to Union On Walkout Cause

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The strike-bound Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. promised a reply today to a union statement that a walkout now in its third day resulted because the firm would make only one wage offer.

L. S. Buckmaster, president of the CIO United Rubber Workers, made the statement yesterday. Told of this, a Goodyear vice president, Fred Climer, said his firm would reply with its explanation of the cause of the strike, sometime today.

The strike by 23,000 members of the union hit 10 Goodyear plants across the country Wednsday night after negotiations at Cincinnati collapsed.

The strike affects Goodyear plants here, at Topeka, Kas., and Gadsden, Ala., and in St. Marys, Ohio; Muncie, Ind.; Los Angeles; Lincoln, Neb.; Jackson, Mich.; New Bedford, Mass.; and Windsor, Vt.

Czechs Silent On Freeing GIs

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A U.S. Embassy spokesman at Prague said today "we are continuing efforts to obtain the release" of seven U.S. soldiers seized by Czech frontier guards July 4. He said no progress has been made so far.

The spokesman, reached by telephone from Frankfurt, said that neither has there been any indication when the Czechoslovak government will answer a strong U.S. protest note against the arrest of the men.

He said the whereabouts of the seven, arrested while on a holiday trip to see the border, is still undetermined.

German border police have reported that Czechs told them the seven, a captain and six enlisted men, had been taken to Prague.

Czech authorities declared the men were on a spy mission, a charge emphatically denied by the United States, which accused the Czechs of abducting them.

Navy's Stunt Team Drills Over Marion

Five Navy jet planes went through a practice session over Marion Municipal Airport this morning before an audience of airport personnel and other persons.

They were getting a preview look at the routine of the Blue Angels, famous Navy flying team, which will be presented at Port Columbus tomorrow concluding the 25th anniversary of the airport.

The planes performed various stunts and flew in formation for a half hour over the local airport, leaving here shortly before 11 a.m. without landing.

The Blue Angels will be joined at Port Columbus tomorrow by the Thunderbirds, famous Air Force flying team, in an air show of stunt flying and precision drill. Port Columbus airport is celebrating its first commercial flight and the first transcontinental air-rail passenger service of July 8, 1929.

France Hinges Evacuation on Results of Talk

Residents of Hanoi To Stay Until Parley Brings Peace or War

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)— The French High Command said today any plan to evacuate civilians from Indochina's northern city of Hanoi hinges on whether current peace negotiations succeed or fail.

A spokesmen for Gen. Paul Ely said France's Indochina commander is holding off on any evacuation move until he learns whether an armistice is to be signed.

Ely predicted yesterday that a peace-or-war decision would be reached by July 20—the date French Premier Pierre Mendes-France set as his deadline to achieve a truce or resign.

The spokesman denied that Ely had given orders before his departure from Hanoi that families of Frenchmen living in the north be evacuated to a safer place.

Ely's information chief said rumors he ordered the withdrawal of Hanoi's civilian population apparently were based on a brief conversation he had at the airport with a group of Hanoi businessmen. The spokesman gave this account of the conversation:

The businessmen asked Ely what should be done about their families. The general replied that until some decision was reached on the armistice he planned no evacuation. But, he added, if they felt worried, there was nothing to prevent them from moving.

Power Strike Against Edison Company Ends

2,200 State Employes Settle for 8.65-Cent Hourly Wage Increase

Some 50 workers at the Ohio Edison Company's Scioto power plant were back at work today following settlement late yesterday of a nine-day-old strike of 2,200 company employes in seven northern Ohio cities.

Here, as in other communities with a total population area of some 1,500,000, supervisory personnel maintained normal service during the walkout.

In balloting last night, the CIO utility workers accepted an 8.65-cent hourly wage increase package which includes pay boosts of four to eight cents, an improved hospitalization plan, increased night differentials and seven paid holidays instead of six.

The union originally asked for an increase of 16-cents an hour. Company officials reported that pay of the union members averaged $1.94 an hour prior to the boost accepted yesterday.

The workers in the seven plants, including Marion, voted to strike when negotiations broke down on a contractor's clause in the proposed contract. The clause stipulated the company could not bring in outside contractors to do employe's work without consent of the union. This was settled last week when the company agreed to retain the clause.

Battle Shaping In Senate on Price Supports

Presidential Action In Case of Veto Top Subject of Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate foes in the battle over farm price supports today advanced rival forecasts on what President Eisenhower would do if Congress votes continued high-level, rigid federal price props for the nation's major crops.

Sen. Young (R-ND), a champion of the existing rigid support system, said in an interview he didn't think Eisenhower would exercise a veto. He predicted most Republican and Democratic senators would vote for a one-year extension of high level supports.

Predicts Veto

But Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, a backer of the administration's flexible price prop plan, said an extension bill would run into a presidential turndown. "There simply would be no new farm legislation," he said.

An Eisenhower veto, if not overridden by the legislators, would have heavy impact on the farm program because under present law a flexible 75-90 per cent of parity support system would automatically go into effect.

Ike's Program Hit

This farm legislation was passed by Congress in 1948-9 but so far Congress has not let it take effect. Instead, the lawmakers have voted from time to time to extend the flat wartime support rate of 90 per cent of parity for basic crops. Parity is a price said by law to be fair for agricultural products in terms of the cost of goods farmers must buy.

Eisenhower, who wants a 75-90 per cent sliding scale, was dealt a setback yesterday when the Senate committee voted out 13-2 a

Russians Ask Ike To Clarify Atom Proposal

State Department's Note Answers Request For More Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—Snail's pace negotiations on President Eisenhower's atoms for peace proposal inched forward yesterday when the State Deparment met a Soviet request for clarification of the plan.

U.S.-Russian contacts on the seven-month-old Eisenhower proposal have been at a standstill since last April 27 when Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov raised certain questions in a note he handed to Secretary of State Dulles in the early days of the Geneva conference.

Yesterday, Russian Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin was called to the State Department where—in a meeting that lasted only five minutes—Asst. Secretary of State Livingston T. Merchant handed him the U.S. reply.

The text of the Russian note of April 27 never has been made public. Neither was the U.S. reply yesterday. The State Department would say only that it answered the Soviet request "dealing with atomic energy matters." Zarubin left the department smiling, but silent.

However, it was learned unofficially that the U.S. message was a point-by-point reply couched in general terms.

Soldier Finds Lost Wife Remarried After 5 Years

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The soldier was telling of his rodeo experiences when a startled expression came over his face and he blurted out:

"It can't be true—it's my first wife."

A pause, then:

"My God, baby, I've searched all over the country for you."

And that's how a slim attractive proofreader and the husband she had believed dead five years were reunited last night in the newsroom of the Newport News Daily Press, where the soldier was being interviewed.

Had Given Up Hope

The two, Mrs. Wayne Ferguson and Donald Eugene (Tex) Tinkle, had given up hope of ever seeing each other again and both since had remarried.

Mrs. Ferguson, 24, believed Tinkle was killed in a rodeo accident in 1949 at Camden, N.J. Tinkle, 25, now a soldier at nearby Ft. Eustis, obtained a divorce in Nevada in 1951 on grounds of desertion after two years of fruitlessly searching for her.

The two were separated in Roanoke, Va., in 1949 shortly after their daughter—who'll be 5 years old Monday—was born and Tinkle suffered a serious leg and ankle injury in a rodeo accident. Tinkle left his wife—then a trick rider—in Roanoke and went to Camden with the show.

"A few days after he left, I received a wire from Camden saying he had been killed in a bad rodeo accident," Mrs. Ferguson said. "He had been injured so badly so many times. . . .I accepted it without question."

She remarried—an Air Force sergeant stationed at Langley Air Force Base—in 1951. They now have two children.

Memory Returns

Another couple, not knowing Tinkle was married, took him in their trailer with the rodeo to Nova Scotia after the Camden mishap. He said there were blank spots in his memory but about six months later he began to remember his past and returned to Roanoke to search for his wife.

Tinkle remarried last year and was drafted in November. His second wife is with him at Ft. Eustis. Mrs. Ferguson lives with her husband at nearby Warwick.

The two couples spent the evening together reminiscing and comparing notes of the last five years. Said Mrs. Ferguson.

"It's wonderful to see Tex again but we've both grown up and we've both taken up different ways of life. We wouldn't be happy going back together again. We're just so happy to see each other—all four of us."

Tension Mounts in Hanoi

Bitter Indochinese Fear French Sell-Out to Reds

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Fear and resentment are building a potentially explosive tension here because many believe they and their city are about to be handed over to the Communist-led Vietminh under a cease-fire agreement. Hundreds are leaving the city daily.

Thousands who lack money or a place to go are voicing resentment. As yet there is no real threat of a native uprising such as slaughtered hundreds of Europeans and Eurasians in December of 1946. Nor is there any real panic.

Could Start Both

But an announcement of a cease-fire agreement that would partition Viet Nam and give the northern half of the Vietminh—expected in many quarters—could touch off either or both. An American in Hanoi tells of a Vietnamese who threatened in his presence:

"The day I learn we have been sold out, I will take my gun, go into the streets, and shoot the first three French I see. It will make me feel better and it will give me points with the Vietminh."

"I think," said the American, "he was just talking. I hope to God he was, because something like that is all that would be needed to touch off bloody rioting."

The Communist - led Vietminh, keeping Hanoi under steady pressure, overran four small French Union militia posts 20 miles northwest of the city yesterday. The rebels launched two ambushes against the French along the Hanoi-Son Tay road.

Aware of Danger

The French command is acutely aware of the danger and is carefully avoiding anything that might be taken as an indication the French were preparing to leave.

Hundreds of natives are assigned repair work in areas where they are most likely to be seen—

Necktie Slayer Dies Protesting His Innocence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The execution shortly after 8 o'clock last night of Russell B. Muskus ended a furious one-man fight for life by the 33-year-old badger game killer.

For three and a half years the swarthy, Kankakee, Ill., man poured out a stream of letters to anyone he thought could help. He won a retrial and several stays of execution before Gov. Frank J. Lausche refused a bid for executive clemency.

Muskus was convicted of the first-degree murder of George LaMasters, 43, of New Philadelphia, Ohio, in a Canton, Ohio, hotel room Dec. 2, 1950.

His accomplice, Sandra Lee Kingsley, 25, of Chicago, now serving a life term in Marysville Reformatory, had lured LeMasters into the room and demanded money from him. LeMasters refused and Muskus strangled him with his own necktie.

His last chance rested with the governor, who refused to grant clemency about nine hours before the execution.

Muskus protested his innocence to the last. But he entered the death chamber between two Catholic priests calm and with a prayer on his lips. He paused momentarily to glare at the witnesses before being strapped into the chair.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis remarked Muskus' attitude was "as good as can be expected."

The warden said Muskus spent an hour and a half yesterday morning with the prison's Catholic chaplain, Fr. C. V. Lucier. Because the condemned man made no special request for his last meal, he was served fried chicken, fried potatoes, coffee, salad, apple pie and cigarettes.

Jobs Still Not Plentiful

Ohio Patronage Outlook Better, Bricker Aid Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attention Ohio Republican job seekers: Prospects for openings in the Eisenhower administration look a little brighter.

This word comes from an ex-Ohio minister and chaplain, Col. Edgar Cochrun. He should know. He is patronage specialist for Sen. John W. Bricker.

But Cochrun cautions patronage jobs have not been plentiful since his party took over last year and that he already had more than 1,000 applications for various positions.

Cochrun contends the general trend is in the other direction, that the administration has lopped off the payroll some 225,000 jobholders.

He says "increased cooperation" between the White House and Congress should produce more jobs in the next two years.

They didn't talk that optimistically in Bricker's office early in the Eisenhower administration.

For instance, when the President named George Humphrey of Cleveland as his secretary of the treasury the late Sen. Taft first heard about it from newsmen.

The position, of course, is not strictly a patronage matter. But protocol, Taft felt, called for consulting him first. As it turned out, Taft was pleased with the appointment.

This sort of misunderstanding—Sen. Bricker himself called it "confusion" about a year ago—persisted for some time, say Bricker aides. These complaints have died down.

To help straighten out matters, Bricker hired Cochrun, former pastor of a Steubenville Congregational church, from the staff of state GOP chairman Ray Bliss. That was last summer.

Miners Aiding Reforestation, Official Says

Chief of Agriculture Department Praises Ohio Strip Operators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A. L. Sorensen, chief of the state's agriculture department, says strip coal miners have done a big job of reforestation—although some land damaged by mining has not been reclaimed.

Sorensen released figures reported to him by Zoyd M. Flaler, chief of the department's division of reclamation, showing that:

1. Strip coal miners planted about four million trees last spring on 4,787 acres of mined land. They also planted 4,665 acres of forage crops.

2. Since Ohio's strip mine law went into effect Jan. 1, 1948, 17,300,000 trees have been planted on 17,114 stripped acres.

Sorensen quoted the report as saying:

"Some of the land affected by strip mine operators has not been reclaimed and will not be reclaimed by the operators."

Under strip mining laws, miners put up bonds and assure the state they will repair the damage they do. But the report said there is a "weakness" in the law because it allows an operator 60 days after the end of the license year to adjust his bond.

By then he may be out of business, Sorensen said.

The report stated that of 132,295 certified for collection for damages to acreage in excess of that licensed, only 4,917 has been collected to date. Because of financial failures probably only a small amount of the balance will be collected, Sorensen said.

Prospect Man Hurt in Union County Mishap

One person was injured in one of two traffic accidents in the area Friday, Marion state highway patrolmen reported today.

Franklin Beltz, 22, of near Prospect received a laceration of his left forearm, bruised forehead and abrasions of his left knee when his car left the road in an accident in Union County.

The mishap occurred on the Centerville-Essex Rd., 2.5 miles south of the Marion County line, at 3:45 p.m. Beltz was treated at the scene by a patrolman.

Patrolmen said the Beltz car, traveling south, ran off the road on the left side and struck a tree. The car was heavily damaged, patrolmen reported.

A car was also extensively damaged in the other accident yesterday on Route 30-S, four-tenths of a mile south of the Morrow-Crawford County line.

Patrolmen said a car driven by Willie James Anderson, 24, of Cleveland ran into the rear of an Independent Towel Supply Co. truck driven by William L. Moore, 28, of Mansfield at 1:10 p.m.

Both vehicles were traveling north and moderate damage to the left rear of the truck was reported.

Anderson was arrested twice and fined a total of $15 and costs by Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead following the accident. He was fined $10 and costs for failure to stop within the assured clear distance ahead and $5 and costs for having a fictitious license.

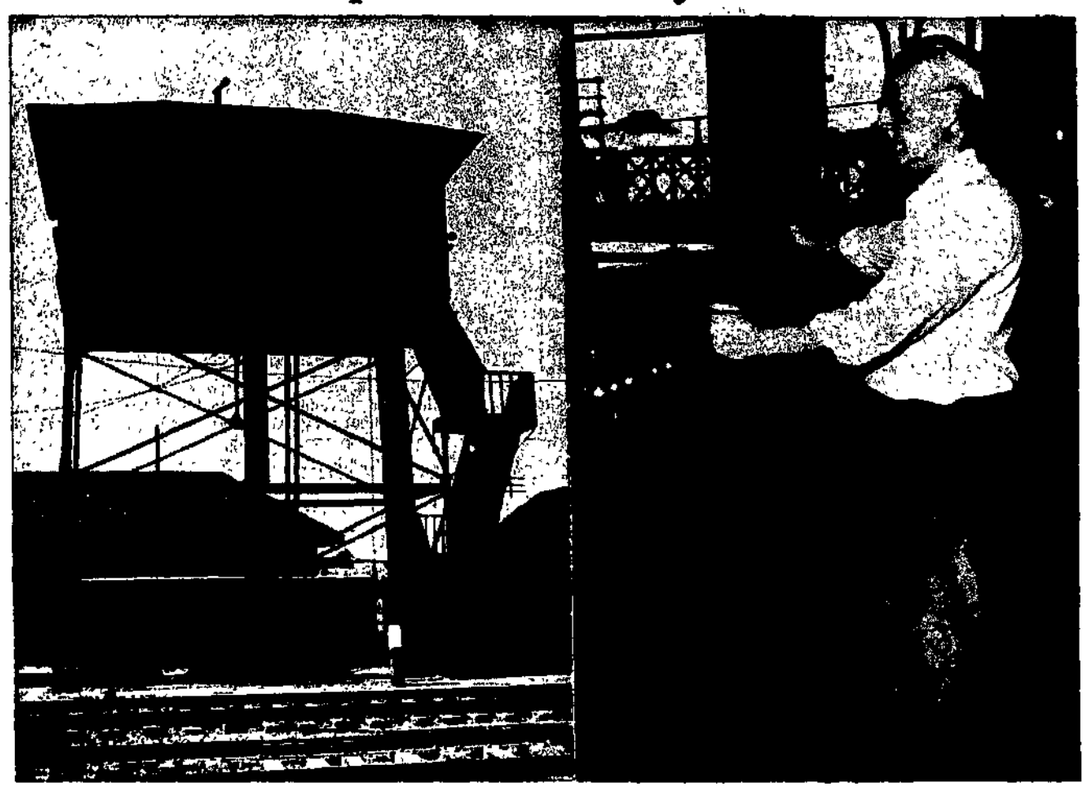
Job of Train Dispatcher Is Envy of Railroad Fans



A TOWER ON THE NORTH SIDE of the Big Four and Erie Railroad tracks at the Marion Union Depot is the main point of operations for trains moving in the local yards. Inside are switch and signal controls which regulate the movements of all trains through the area.

LEFT: A good view of the nearby tracks is obtained by workers from the tower. It rises high above the ground. All four sets of tracks in the yards can be seen from the windows.

Have Vital Role

They Pull Switches All Day, and Get Paid for It

Get a kick out of throwing the switches on your son's train set?

A crew of railroad men in Marion throws switches all day and all night—and for real.

These are the traindispatchers who man the tower high above the ground north of the Erie and New York Central railroad tracks near the Union Depot.

THEY CONTROL the movements through Marion of an average of 180 trains a day. Inside the tower is a master panel which operates the switches within the depot yard limits.

For 24 hours per day, operators are on duty in the tower, pulling levers, twisting dials, answering phones, and keeping a sharp lookout for trains approaching on the tracks below.

Each of the trains which pass through the area known as the station yards must be directed by the men in the tower.

By pulling switches, the approaching trains can be sent straight through on one track, switched to a side track, or changed from the east-west tracks to the north-south Pennsylvania or Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks.

ALL SWITCHES are electrically operated. In the old days, and in some present interlocking systems, the switches are manually controlled. Workers at the tower say that type of switch was often hard to operate, especially in winter when ice and snow would block one or more switches.

A large panel showing the location of trains on the various tracks enables the operator to direct the traffic even if he can't see the train from the tower.

Each train must be planned for in advance, according to M. C. Murphy, chief train dispatcher for the Erie Railroad. Failure to do so could lead to the blocking of traffic in the downtown sections.

TRAINS CAN BE stopped outside the city limits and held there until given the okay to proceed. In case a westbound train should get into the yard limits while a north or southbound train is passing through, a de-rail switch would throw that train off the track and stop it from crashing into the moving train.

Train engineers are told when they can move by semaphore arm switches which raise or lower automatically when a switch is opened or closed.

An intricate communications system, including two-way radio, telephone lines to other stations, and a telegraph key enables control operators to plan the movements of trains.

THE TOWER was originally built around 1905. However, since that time, frequent alterations and improvements have been made in the equipment. Workers say there is probably not one piece of the original equipment left in the structure.

Three men work eight-hour shifts in the tower. Wilfred Wilkins is now working the daylight shift from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. From 4 p.m. until midnight, Donald Kightlinger handles the controls, and from midnight until Wilkins returns, B. E. Graff pulls switches.

Two relief men are on duty to take over when the regulars go to lunch.

In addition to the operators, there is also a staff of regular repairmen available around the clock to make repairs to the intricate system of electrical controls and relays which operate the mechanism.

"NOT MUCH manual labor, but a lot of moving around is involved in this job," was the comment of Wilkins as he pulled a switch, then jumped to his telephone, and operated a telegraph key all at the same time.

The workers at the tower are constantly on the alert, for they realize one mistake could result in a costly or fatal accident. Their job is one which the average train rider or passerby might not recognize as important. However, upon the ability of the interlocking control worker, depends the smooth and effective movement of railroad traffic through the city.

Atomic

But in a meeting in a high school at Oak Ridge, a substantial majority of 900 strikers on hand registered in favor of going back to work. They did so on condition the union would sanction another walkout should further bargaining fail. The standing vote was not recorded.

Just before, union President Elwood Swisher had told them:

"You are going to have to go back to work in less than 12 hours. You can either go back voluntarily, which I recommend, or by Taft-Hartley injunction — by being clubbed back by the very government you work for."

A presidential fact finding board has been collecting data on the strike, but was understood to have been holding up its report—which is necessary under the Taft-Hartley Act before an injunction can be sought—in order to give Mitchell and the union chiefs a chance to end the walkout on their own.

No Change in Wage Hike

Mitchell's plan held out no hope for the workers to get more than a six cent hourly wage boost recommended several weeks ago by President Eisenhower's atomic labor panel. But it did promise a broad opportunity for labor unions to work out with the AEC improvements in housing, health and community facilities and in labor relations generally with all AEC contractors.

Mitchell's proposal apparently contemplated that the 4,500 strikers—3,500 at Oak Ridge and 1,000 at Paducah—would either take the six-cent pay hike or try to get a greater increase in continued collective bargaining after returning to work.

An additional 4,500 AFL atomic workers at two other Oak Ridge plants, also operated by the Carbide and Chemicals Co. for the AEC, have likewise turned down the six cent increase proposal, but did not join the CIO strike.

The unions had demanded a minimum 15 cent hourly pay boost. Present scales range from $1.58 to $2.40 an hour.

Complain of High Costs

Union officials had complained the workers were agitated as much about rents and community service costs at Oak Ridge and Paducah and day to day labor problems as about wages.

The unions have also complained they have been warned against strikes in atomic plants but the government has not made it possible for them to otherwise back up bargaining demands.

Mitchell, who had been striving to prevent if possible the administration resorting to a T-H Law injunction, disclosed he had proposed an AEC study "to improve labor-management relations and to strengthen collective bargaining in the atomic energy field."

The current strike has been one of the toughest labor disputes the Eisenhower administration has had to face and it was significant that the White House relied so heavily on Mitchell in the situation.

Previous labor secretaries have been handicapped by the White House taking labor controversies out of their hands. In the present atomic dispute and other matters it has been demonstrated Eisenhower has put Mitchell in full charge.

TALKS AT CHATFIELD CHURCH

BUCYRUS—Reuben Leuthold, a senior at Wheaton College and a Crawford County native, will be the guest speaker tonight at a Youth for Christ rally to be held in Chatfield Evangelical - Pietist Church, north of Bucyrus. His subject topic will be "Is It True?" Leuthold was graduated from Mutuomah School of the Bible in Portland, Ore., in 1952 and is a speech major at Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill. He is a member of the college's varsity debate team.

Californian Rides Over Cliff; Climbs Back Out Unhurt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Clayton Johnson rode his old sedan over a 150 foot cliff and lived to become an optimist.

"I'll probably live to be 100," he quipped, "if I quit driving."

Johnson is 83. He pulled off a road high in Griffith Park yesterday to enjoy the scenery.

"Guess I dozed off," he told an ambulance crew who rescued him. "First thing I knew I was at the bottom of this canyon."

But the crew didn't reach him at the bottom of the canyon. Johnson climbed back up the mountainside and flagged a motorist, who telephoned for help.

"I didn't even get a scratch," Johnson mused.

FINED AT CALEDONIA

A Galion man was fined yesterday in Caledonia Mayor's Court for driving without an operator's license. Burnell Baldwin, Route 1, Galion, was fined $25 and costs. He was arrested by Edwin Fink, Caledonia marshal.

ON RADIO BROADCAST

Appearing on the Marion Entertains program Sunday at 1 p.m. over Station WMRN will be the Rhythm Queens from Taft Junior High School and Linnea Gonzales, pianist, from New Bloomington High School. Making up the quartet are Myrna Cochert, Nancy Jevas, Shirley Hill and Beth Hanning. The program is produced and directed by Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh.

ASKS RATE CHANGES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. has asked the state utilities commission to permit it to establish uniform rates for 1,800 rural customers in six counties. The company listed 18 customers in Coshocton County, 133 in Delaware, 387 in Fairfield, 505 in Licking, 325 in Franklin and 332 in Knox.

Farm

measure which among other things would extend the 90 per cent rate a year.

The bill also departed from administration recommendations in several other important respects.

The House last week okayed an 82-90 per cent flexible scale in what the President termed "a great and sweeping" victory for the administration program. He said he personally would have prevented any parity drop below 80 per cent in the first year anyway.

Young today said administration supporters contend most of the basic crops would remain near the 90 per cent level anyway under the flexible system. Therefore, he said, he sees "no reason not to write this into law for another year."

Claims Senate Support

The North Dakotan said he is counting on a number of prominent farm-state senators to help sustain the Senate committee bill's rigid-supports provision when it comes to the Senate floor next week.

However Aiken said he is confident the Senate will knock out this provision, which was adopted in committee by only a one-vote margin, 9-7. He said he will seek a sliding scale of 80-90 per cent.

Arguments over the farm program were punctuated yesterday by an Agriculture Department crop report indicating production this year may approach last year's near record volume — despite government efforts for a sizable cutback.

Farm officials, with six billion dollars worth of farm surpluses piled up under support operations, had asked but not required a trimming of nearly 10 per cent in acreage planted. But the survey indicated farmers used land diverted from such surplus crops as cotton and wheat to plant other cash crops instead of taking it out of cultivation.

Strike

Negotiators were close to agreement on the wage and fringe benefits but after the contractors' clause issue was settled the union went back to its original demand of 16 cents an hour and the company remained firm on 6.61 cents an hour.

Mayors Confer

A conference of mayors from 10 cities called by Akron Mayor Leo A. Berg helped settle the contractors' clause issue but was unable to do anything with the wage issues.

Finally Berg and the other mayors gave up and called in the federal mediation and conciliation service which succeeded in resolving the differences after a 13-hour negotiating session in Akron yesterday.

This was Ohio Edison's second strike. The first was in 1950 when the union went out in mid-September after working nearly three months on a day-to-day basis.

Union leaders this year refused to work on the daily basis. There were numerous reports of power failures but union leaders denied any responsibility and company officials reported no major failures.

Locals approving the settlement last night in addition to Marion Local 353 were Youngstown, Akron, Lorain, Toronto, Warren and Shadyside.

Mansfield Local Dissolves

A company spokesman in Akron said last night that a power plant in Mansfield had been closed down recently and will be operated only in emergency. A union local there was dissolved with most of the employes absorbed in the company's other installations in other cities, he added.

Marion employes of the company were represented in the contract talks by John Curry, president of the local, and Calvin Topliff.

Boy, 11, Injured In Collision of Auto and Bike

James Freet Suffers Fractured Leg in One Of Four City Accidents

An 11-year old Marion bicyclist was injured in one of four traffic accidents reported today by city police.

The state highway patrol and sheriff's deputies reported no accidents on county streets and highways during the last 24 hours.

James Freet, son of John Freet of 442 Fies Ave., sustained a broken left leg when he was hurled to the pavement after his bicycle was struck by a car on Clinton St. south of Bennett St. at 6:10 p.m. Friday.

Estel E. Smith, 77, of 124 Cayuga St., driver of the car, told police he tried to avoid hitting the bike and boy but was unable to do so. His car skidded some 176 feet along the street, then turned over on its side in a ditch on the west side of the street, police reported. Both the car and the bike were headed north. Smith was unhurt when his car turned over.

James was taken to the hospital in a Hughes ambulance and was listed in "fairly good" condition by hospital attendants today. In addition to the double fracture of his left leg, he also suffered bruises and cuts on his legs, body and arms.

Three accidents in the city were minor with two of them involving less than $100 damage. Another accident was a collision at Main and Center Sts. at 4:04 p.m. Friday involving cars driven by DDelbert L. Gregory, 32, of 168 Edwards St. and Blemis L. Chapman, 58, of 141 N. Grand Ave.

Cites Truman Policy Mistake

Sen. Ferguson Cautions Against Repeating Error

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said today it would be "a senseless ostrich attitude" to ignore what he called foreign policy mistakes of the Truman administration.

"Unless we do keep those errors firmly in mind," the chairman of the GOP Policy Committee said, "we are apt to fall into the same global trap — so cleverly baited by Communists who talk peaceful coexistence, but who give no factual evidence of good faith."

Answers Complaints

Ferguson, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a statement he felt compelled to comment on Democratic complaints concerning Republican criticism of the Asian policies of former President Truman and his secretary of state, Dean Acheson.

Ferguson's comment came in the wake of a Senate speech yesterday in which Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) gave this as a summary of current GOP foreign policy: "Speak loudly and carry a feather duster."

Mansfield accused the administration of seeking to run foreign affairs on a "diplomacy of bluster and retreat," but Sen. Cooper (R-Ky) challenged him to show "just what the failure is" in the government's Asian diplomatic moves, or to say what a Democratic administration would have handled differently.

Mansfield's Charges

Mansfield referred to Secretary of State Dulles' unsuccessful missions to London and Paris to line up support for an anti-Communist alliance in Southeast Asia, and he declared:

"We can do nothing or worse than nothing if we cling to the illusion that . . . 11th-hour flights to foreign capitals are a substitute for carefully cultivated, carefully maintained cooperation with friendly nations; that strong words, even massive ones, equate with a strong policy — that they take the place of genuine strength and conviction."

the airport. French military and civilian government buildings, downtown streets. Soldiers behind barbed wire at entrances, communication posts and power transformer stations which have been wire encircled for months.

Painters are redecorating the building housing French and foreign correspondents.

But the rush to get out of Hanoi is on.

There is nothing even remotely resembling the hordes of refugees who clogged roads ahead of Communist invading South Korea in 1950. Nor can there be, since there are no safe roads leading south out of Hanoi to the relative safety of Saigon, 700 miles away. Between the Red River Delta of the north and Saigon are miles of jungles and mountains held by the Vietminh.

But 700 to 1,000 a day are applying for government travel control permits necessary to leave Hanoi.

Stage Unorganized Buyers' Strike

High Prices Anger British Housewives

LONDON (AP)—British housewives did a lot of shrewd window shopping, and at the end of the first week of ration-free meat they had emerged victorious in an unorganized buyers' strike.

Women admired the beautiful steaks which dealers, freed on July 3 of government control for the first time in more than 14 years, displayed in their shops.

But, with prices generally double what they were in rationing days, women were buying little meat. Hundreds of tons piled up in the shops, and by the weekend prices had tumbled to levels in some cases lower than those prevailing in the years of government regulation. Some merchants who had counted on a rush for meat have lost money.

"I made a tasty window display of lovely meat with price tags attached," said a butcher in London's Paddington district. He was able to make a display of fresh meat because London July temperatures have been like the inside of a refrigerator.

"Well, I watched the first 14 women who took an interest," the butcher said. "Thirteen turned up their noses and walked away. One came in and bought a kidney. That's no way to run a butcher shop, and I guess the ladies have won."

As a result, cuts of beef were settling down to a general price level somewhat higher than in rationing days. Lamb chops remained about the same. Some stewing meats and mutton were cheaper.

Most dealers expected prices would stabilize at just a little above the range of rationing days.

Prices against which British housewives rebelled are not comparable with meat costs in other lands because in Britain a retail price does not reveal subsidies which may be as high as 50 per cent. But steaks they shunned at about 75 cents a pound. They were accustomed to paying about 47 cents.

Lamb chops remained steady at 42 cents. Stewing steak in the free market was 37 cents. It is down to 32 cents.

Patronage

Now Cochrun has compiled in a neat folder a list of about 700 Ohioans who have moved into federal jobs.

These include some 150 rural mail carriers in Ohio, about that many more postmasters from fourth class to first, with the remainder in the executive branch and the courts.

The list of "big" jobs given Ohioans is fairly impressive. Here are some of the top appointments, or, in some cases, nominations:

From Cleveland--Ex-Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, chairman of the Subversive Activities Control Board; Albine Cermak, collector of customs; L. Quincy Mumford, librarian of Congress; James Connell, district judge; Stanley Canary, district attorney.

From Columbus--Robert Minor, former administrative assistant to Bricker, assistant deputy attorney general; Mrs. Lottie M. Randolph, assistant to the Farmers Home Administraor; George McConnaughey, chairman of the War Renegotiations Board.

From Cincinnati--Jessie Locker, ambassador to Liberia; Potter Stewart, judge, U. S. Court of Appeals; Irwin Davis, assistant director of internal revenue in the Cincinnati region; I. Jack Martin, former administrative assistant to Sen. Taft, administrative assistant to President Eisenhower; William D. Gradison, assistant undersecretary of the treasury.

Others Appointed

Then there have been Robert T Secrest, Democratic congressman from Senecaville, Ohio, named a member of the Federal Trade commission, Kevin McCann, president of Defiance College, part-time speech writer for the President, and William M. Brett of Alliance, director of the mint.

A Columbus man, it is understood, could have had a top job—executive director of the Commission on Inter-governmental Operations. Former Rep. Dudley White of Sandusky is soon to retire from this position.

One source said Fred Milligan, former Ohio director of commerce, probably could have had the $15,000-a-year job but didn't want to leave Columbus. Milligan assisted White for several months here.

Incidentally, Cochrun insists it is simply not true—as a few argue—that Cleveland has "hogged" most of the Ohio appointments.

In proportion to population, he says after consulting his book Columbus and Cincinnati have done at least as well.

Looking ahead, he says his principal targets are jobs that pay in the area of $10,000 a year.

Recruits Stand At Attention in 90-Degree Heat

FT. DIX, N. J. (AP)—A Wilmington Ohio, man is one of two company leaders facing possible disciplinary action for making their company of 225 soldier trainees stand at attention for about an hour in 90-degree heat June 21.

The two were relieved of their commands yesterday as investigation of the case continued.

Post officials identified the two as Lt. Robert S. Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Sgt. 1. C Richard Witbeck of 420 Herrick Ave., Wilmington, Ohio.

Regimental commander Col. Earl Ringler said he now has the case under review and will decide a course of action in a few days.

Post public information officer Capt. Harry Lapham said Col. Ringler started the investigation the same day he was told Co. L of the 272nd Infanary Regiment was held at attention in the company area and that several men fainted.

Ringler addressed the company with the statement that he did not approve of mass disciplinary action of any type and if investigation established the alleged facts he would see that proper action was taken against the responsible persons, Lapham said.

He added that preliminary investigation indicated "there was sufficient basis to the allegations to recommend disciplinary action against the company commander and the administrative first sergeant."

Traffic Cases

Eight motorists were assessed a total of $190 in fines and bond forfeitures on various traffic charges in Marion Municipal Court Friday.

Three of them forfeited $35 appearance bonds when they failed to appear for trial. They were Donald G. Osborne, 20, of Raineville, W. Va., reckless driving; Arthur E. Osborne, 28, of Aiken, S. C., speeding; and Buddy H. Stemper, 19, of Detroit, speeding.

Other dispositions were: James W. Davis, 30, of Pontiac, Mich., speeding, $15 and costs; Oscar E. Ousterman, 41, of Oceanside, N. C., crossing over a yellow line, $15 and costs; John D. Blew, 29, of Urbana, no mudflaps on a truck, $15 and costs; Grover F. Hawkins, 27, of Delaware, reckless driving, $15 and costs; and G. L. Schultes, 55, of Cincinnati, passing in a no passing zone, $15 and costs.

Aid

by our Allies, and 7½ millions to help private free enterprise in Europe compete with cartels.

Smith said the big proposed cut was approved without a dissenting vote. It was offered by Sen. George (D-Ga), who originally had called for a two billion dollar slash.

George's proposal to reduce the measure by two billions had drawn a protest from the Foreign Operations Administration, which handles foreign aid.

The bill simply sets the money ceilings beyond which Congress cannot go in appropriating for foreign aid. The money bills come up for action later. Appropriations for the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled about $4,531,000,000.

Softens House Action

Smith announced the committee also had softened a House-passed provision of the bill which would have required that something between 300 and 350 million as the bill now is shaping up — must be in the form of loans instead of grants or gifts.

He said the committee changed that to a flat 150 millions.

Administration foreign policy came in for some criticism on both sides of the aisle yesterday as Flanders delivered what was billed as a major speech.

The Vermont senator contended the United States has lost face in Asia, and he called for new strategy in the cold war against the Communists.

"We should go on the offensive for the hearts and minds of the Russian people on the question of disarmament," he said.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said the administration had secretly consulted congressional leaders April 3 — but none from the Senate Foreign Relations or House Foreign Affairs Committee —on the possibility of asking Congress to authorize President Eisenhower to intervene in Indochina if he thought necessary.

Wasn't Invited

Several GOP senators, including Smith, said they had never heard of such a proposal. Mansfield said he wasn't surprised, because Smith wasn't invited to he meeting.

Coming to the administration's defense was Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), who declared this country could not be "Mr. Fixit" for anywhere on the globe trouble might develop.

The Michigan senator said the three associated Indochina states never asked active aid from the United States. The United States cannot be expected to intervene, he said, unless nations want freedom enough to fight for it.

Where Next?

By George Sokolsky

It is in the nature of the establishment of a universal state that a defeat must not be permitted to be accepted as permanent. The reason for this axiom is that defeats indicate bad planning, bad execution, incorrect analyses of conditions. Whereupon the countries on the periphery of empire look to their possibilities to make up for the failure quickly. Conversely, it was only after the United States was defeated in Korea that country after country became neutralist which is a polite term for an increasing affinity for Russia, the degree not always measurable.

SOKOLSKY

Jacobo Arbenz of Guatemala put the finger on the United States as the author of his disaster. Therefore in the logic of history, the United States in Guatemala won a victory over a Soviet Universal State in its first major effort to establish a Communist country on the American continents. There had been previous abortive efforts.

Arbenz said:

"Workers, peasants, patriots, friends, people of Guatemala. Guatemala is undergoing a very hard trial. Two weeks ago a cruel war was unleashed against Guatemala; apparently no government is responsible for it. That does not mean we don't know who unleashed this aggression against our beloved country. The United Fruit Company, the U. S. monopolies, in connivance with U. S. governing circles, are responsible for what is happening to us."

He added:

"I say goodbye, my friends, with bitter sorrow, but still firm in my convictions. Preserve what has been so costly; 10 years of struggle, tears, and sacrifices, of democratic gains, are many years to gainsay history. I have not been confuted by the enemy's arguments, but by the material means for the destruction of Guatemala."

—:—

AND HE ENDED with a typical Russian Communist salute:

"With the satisfaction of a man who believes he has done his duty, with faith in the future, I say: Long live the October Revolution! Viva Guatemala!"

The October Revolution which Arbenz salutes is, of course, the seizure of power by the Communists in Russia under Lenin and Trotzky. By this salute Arbenz acknowledges the source of his inspiration. By these words, as ritualistic as standard prayers, he declares himself a Marxist under the tutelage of the Kremlin.

The technique of control and operations of the Arbenz government not only indicates Communist tutelage but the presence of Russian advisers. As evidence of this may be cited the language of the following order, issued on June 25:

"To all departmental governors of the Republic, circular:

"Capture at once all anti-Communist mayors and city administration employees who are now members of the revolutionary party and who were previously known anti-Communists. Hold them in prison. When you hear the first shot of the attack, shoot them at once. Acknowledge.

"Signed: Cruz, Director General of the Civil Guard."

NOW THE STRATEGIC problem that faces the planners in the Kremlin is how to overcome the effects of this defeat.

1. Shall they institute a diversionary effort, such as eventuated in the Berlin Airlift while they were conquering China?

2. Shall that diversionary effort be on the American continents or elsewhere?

3. Shall they undertake to retake Guatemala by guerrila warfare, by a state of constant revolution?

4. Shall they abandon the effort in Guatemala and develop a Soviet state in some other American country?

It is not to be forgotten that Guatemala is at least the fourth attempt to develop a Soviet state in the Americas. Constantine Oumansky tried Cuba and Mexico where he failed and died in an airplane crash. British Guiana was the next attempt and it failed because of the swift military action by the British. Guatemala was long in the making as a Communist base and all the evidence concerning it was amply reported to our government by Richard C. Patterson Jr., when he was our ambassador to that country (1948-51). In fact, Patterson was relieved of his post because his reports were correct and therefore a nuisance.

Guatemala is geographically a suitable place for a Soviet state, but the likelihood is that operations are already beginning in some other American country.

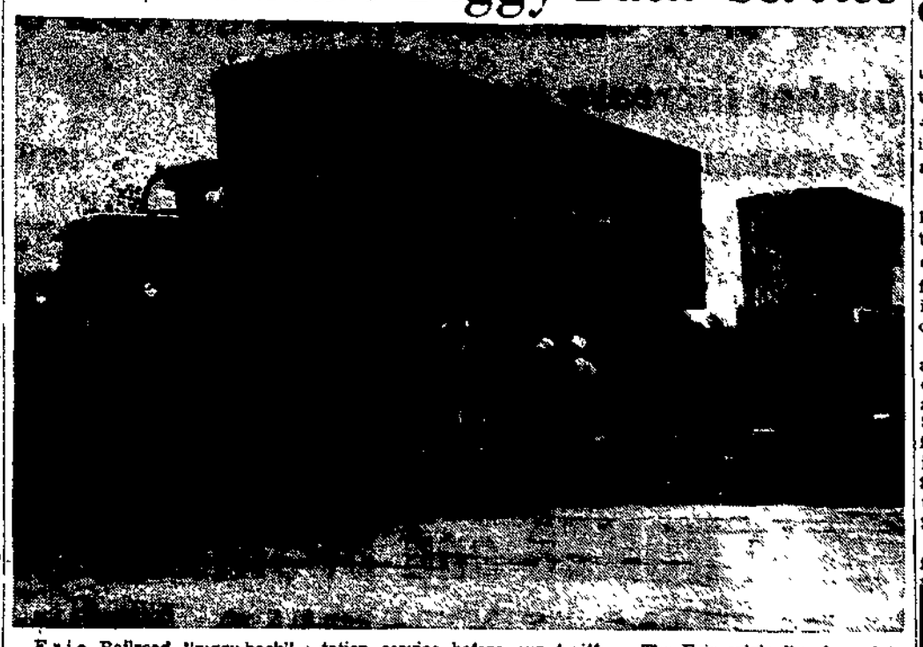
Erie Will Start 'Piggy Back' Service



Erie Railroad "piggy-back" service will begin moving highway trailers on flatcars on Monday, Harry W. Von Willer, vice president for traffic, announced following the Interstate Commerce Commission's go-ahead signal issued today.

"We are ready to furnish trailers to shippers who indicated an interest in this modern transportation service before our tariff was suspended last month," Von Willer said. "We are pleased that the Commission acted promptly in approving the operation. Our salesmen are already contacting shippers offering this new service."

Erie Employes in Cleveland are shown preparing a truck for the "piggy back ride."

The Erie originally planned to start the "piggy-back" service on June 16 between New York and Chicago. Its plans were upset when a three-man division of the I.C.C. suspended the tariff two days before in order to study opposition by the truckers. In today's action the entire Commission revoked the suspension order and authorized the railroad to inaugurate the service.

Bluffton Phone Co. Granted Rate Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state utilities commission has granted the Bluffton Telephone Co. of Allen County a $13,224 annual rate increase, the amount the company asked.

The rate increase gives the company a 5.64 per cent rate of return and allows $14,214 for fixed charges. The company said that for the year ended May 31, 1953, it earned only $5,154 for fixed charges.

In its application, the company asked to raise private line residential charges from $3.50 to $4.75 a month, five-party lines from $2.50 to $3.75 and 10-party rural from $2.50 to $3. Business phone increases asked were private line $6 to $7.50, two-party from $5.50 to $6.50, and 10-party rural from $4.50 to $6.75.

The rate increase application was filed nearly a year ago.

Good Fight

By Victor Riesel

Second cousin to the character who endangers the housewives and their families by selling them poisoned poultry, is the moneyhungry merchant who snatches an extra few cents out of the family budget by "needling" the chickens and turkeys to make the fowl heavier and thus more costly.

RIESEL

The technique of "needling" a chicken or turkey is one of several ways of pumping water into it to increase its poundage and decrease the value of the food-dollar to the lady of the house. She's paying for the water, not the meat of the bird.

This I've learned since I joined some Congressmen and the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union in a campaign to drive contaminated foods from the market places of the nation.

That diseased poultry is being sold, there can be no doubt. For this we have the word of C. W. Crawford, Commissioner of Foods and Durgs, Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare. Mr. Crawford says:

"We have a carefully planned enforcement program . . . which includes inspection of poultry dressing and eviscerating plants and of other poultry processors, and sampling surveys in consumer markets to find diseased or otherwise unfit poultry.

"Under this program for fiscal 1953 and the first 11 months of fiscal 1954, we approved 106 seizures for the removal of unfit birds from the market, of which 64 actions included charges that the article was in whole or in part the product of a diseased animal.

"During the same period we also approved 33 criminal actions, 22 of which involved diseased poultry.

"DESPITE THIS, the section had to curtail its activities. Under the new budget it will lose still another $100,000 and a number of inspectors.

"During fiscal 1953," Mr. Crawford added, "we devoted 10 man-years to the poultry project, of which the work on diseased poultry is a part, along with work on filthy, decomposed or otherwise unfit poultry and poultry which has been needled, or otherwise fraudulently watered to increase its weight.

"During fiscal 1954 this work has necessarily been reduced."

Here then is evidence that despite the hundreds of legitimate poultry merchants who are above any suspicion or repreach, there are still those who steadily dump poisonous poultry on the nation. With the current meager inspection force there is no adequate way of policing the industry. Crawford says that there are "1,300 interstate poultry dressing, freezing, or canning establishments in the U. S. For the past two years we have made about 400 poultry establishment inspections each year . . . Thus our program contemplates complete coverage of this industry about once every three or four years.

The Agricultural Dept. has an inspection program, too. It can look at the plants and facilities. But the Butchers' Union discloses that the department points out in some of its literature: "We do not have authority to prohibit a company from packing birds that may be emaciated or show external evidence of disease."

The point is that no Federal agency seems to have the authority to stop the killing and processing of poisonous poultry. Such foods can only be intercepted, if discovered. And Mr. Crawford says bluntly that diseased poultry may be the "reservoir of human infection by routes still unknown."

"Certain types of encephalitis and meningitis, pseudo-tuberculosis and pasturella infections are in this group."

These diseases can maim—and kill.

THE BUTCHERS' UNION is driving for more inspectors and an entirely new code of laws which will give the federals full power to stop this ghoulish trade.

Union president Earl Jimerson recently told me that, "A representative of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration spent an hour and a half at our office. They are making an investigation of the putrid conditions that exist in some phases of the industry.

"We also sent a letter to the State Dept. of Agriculture in each state requesting that they furnish us with a copy of their state laws governing the slaughtering and processing of poultry.

"We intend to carry this fight to Congress. There will be no let up until such time that action is taken to protect public health."

Good fight!

Sightless Pair To Wed Friday

Love 'Blind' for Pennsylvania Couple

By BOB HOLTON

CORRY, Pa. (AP)—Howard Collins says he just knows Gladys Camfield will be "beautiful" when she walks up the church aisle here tomorrow to become his bride.

Gladys says Howard will be the "Most handsome" man in the wedding party.

Though their friends in this Erie County communiy agree, Howard and Gladys will never really know.

They are both blind and have never seen each other.

Howard was born blind 45 years ago in his Lock Haven home. Gladys lost her eyesight 28 years ago when she was 14. The loss was caused by an eye disease.

The couple became acquainted a year ago through a pen pal club. They exchanged letters—in Braille.

Six months ago they met in Lock Haven for the first time. Four months later they became engaged and last month announced the wedding date.

"I never really thought I would ever get married," Howard confessed.

"But somehow when I received Gladys' first letter I had the feeling she was something special in my life."

Howard is a tall, thin man with square shoulders and a lean, handsome face.

Gladys is a trim brunette with pretty features and an abundance of poise.

The pen pal club was listed in the Christian Record, a religious publication for the blind.

The couple didn't plan a church wedding at first but members of the Corry Evangelical United Brethren Church arranged it.

The couple will live in Lock Haven with Collins' mother, Mrs. Bertha McKinney.

Howard and Gladys each receive $50 a month blind pension and Howard earns a small living caning chairs.

Tips to Tourists

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Many Americans going to Europe this summer for the first time will come back home with a vague complaint:

HAL BOYLE

"Nobody seems to like us over there. And, for the life of me, I can't tell why."

The truth in many cases, of course, is merely that through an honest mistake in a strange land they became involved in some minor unpleasant incident.

From this small grievance they draw the unfair conclusion that "you can't trust any foreigners" and "all Europeans are envious of us anyway."

On the other hand, some tourists set out on their journey abroad with a chip-on-the-shoulder attitude. They are secretly determined ahead of time to dislike everything they see, and to be disliked themselves.

SINCE IT WOULD spoil their trip if anybody did like them, I have prepared a guide against this disaster. Here are a dozen Golden Rules on how to be sure you can make yourself unpopular abroad.

1. Upon landing, unsling your camera and ask the nearest native: "Where is that rathole I hear you poured all our Marshall Plan funds down? I want to take a picture of it for the taxpayers in our town."

2. On being seated in a restaurant, put your wallet on the table and bow low to it three times. This will confirm the suspicion that all Americans really worship money.

3. Whenever you pay a bill, count the change three times after remarking loudly, "They're all out to cheat you over here."

4. If you see a line of people waiting for a bus, don't join the end of the queue. Just muscle on to the bus ahead of everybody, like you would back home.

5. Since you are sure all Europeans think Americans are children, act like a child at all times. If they don't bring you what you want when you want it, sit down on the floor and holler until they do bring it.

6. In London don't forget to say, "I don't see much signs of bomb damage. That blitz couldn't have been as bad as you all made it out."

7. Wherever you go, address everybody as "Hey, Mac." All Europeans are named "Mac."

8. In Sweden and Switzerland they'll be disappointed in you if you don't observe, "Why didn't you guys get into the last war. No guts?"

9. In Germany, naturally, you get chummy and ask, "Well, I guess most of you krauts still love Hitler, and you already got the plans drawn up for the third World War, eh?"

10. In making gift purchases for friends, they won't even know you're from out of town unless you yelp, "I can get the same thing for half the money back home."

11. If a Frenchman even speaks to you, start addressing him as "mon-sewer." You kid an Italian by saying, "Hey, senior, where's junior?" All Europeans like to hear you deliberately mispronounce the language they love.

12. Don't let the lofty, centuries-old cathedrals overawe you. Just murmur to the guide, "Gee, what a wonderful bowling alley," or "Yeah, it's nice, but what movie are you showing?"

ANY TOURIST who follows these rules is bound to be regarded in Europe as the most revolting American of the year. But he'll have an advantage over the average tourist—he'll at least know why he's unpopular.

Yankees Seen by Lopez as Chief Threat to Indians

Chisox Belt Relief Pitching While Defeating Tribe 8-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Al Lopez of the first-place Cleveland Indians fears only the New York Yankees, now three games off the pace.

"Even if the Chicago White Sox whip us four straight," said Lopez, "it's the Yankees, not the White Sox we'll be worried about."

The Pale Hose gained some slight measure of revenge before 43,470 faithful last night, trimming Cleveland 8-3 to end a string of four successive one-run losses to the Tribe.

"Sure, the White Sox are primed to give us the works," said Lopez.

"But I don't forget that in 1951, 1952 and 1953 it was the Yankees who beat us to the wire. That's the club we have to beat.

"I'm not overlooking the possibility of the White Sox making up lost ground with a patched-up lineup. We did pretty good ourselves with Al Rosen and Bobby Avila on the sidelines."

He was referring to the Sox playing Freddie Marsh at third and rookie Ron Jackson at first in place of the injured George Kell and Ferris Fain.

The White Sox did it the hard way last night, erasing a 3-2 deficit in the seventh as Chico Carrasquel and Nellie Fox slammed two-run singles to break the game wide open.

This is a real death struggle for the third-place White Sox, who now rest six games behind the Tribe. Sox Manager Paul Richards is pinning all of his chances on his pitching to tide the Hose over until his wounded varsity mends.

Bob Keegan, husky righthander, achieved his 12th victory, tops for an American League hurler last night, even though he left for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Morrie Martin finished.

Richards today will send Jack Harshman (4-4) against Cleveland's Early Wynn (10-6). The stand against the Tribe concludes with a doubleheader tomorrow.

Last night's scrap shaped up as another one-run setback for the frustrated White Sox until the big seventh, despite successive home runs by Jim Rivera in the second and fourth.

But in the seventh Art Houtteman weakened and Hal Newhouser moved in to hang the defeat on himself by walking the only two men to face him, filling the bases. It was then, against cleveland's third hurler, Bob Hooper, that Carrasquel rammed a bases-loaded single for two runs. Don Mossi relieved Hooper, and Fox smashed another two-run single off him.

The loss, only the second for the Tribe in the last 13 games, was Newhouser's first defeat in 13 relief roles, although he lost one other as a starter.

A double by Wally Westlake, singles by Dave Philley and George Strickland and Jim Hegan's fly tallied two Tribe runs in the second inning. In the seventh they broke a 2-2 tie when Hegan, who had singled and moved to second on Houtteman's sacrifice, scored on Bill Glynn's single.

Trinity Defeats Brethren; Irish Down Epworth

St. Mary and Trinity posted Church League victories last night in softball action at Garfield Park.

Trinity edged Church of the Brethren 9-8 while St. Mary outscored Epworth 12-8.

Seven runs on five walks and four hits in the opening frame gave St. Mary a lead it never relinquished in the win over Epworth.

The winners added a run in the second, one in the fifth and three more in the sixth to conclude their run production. Epworth netted two runs in the fourth and six in the sixth.

Steve Norris went the route for St. Mary, giving up eight hits to Epworth. The St. Mary attack accounted for 11 hits off Howard Gilbert of the losers. Norris clouted a homer and Ray Robbins and Larry Leser added triples to pace the winners' attack.

Six runs in the last two frames —the winning one in the final frame—carried Trinity to the victory over Church of the Brethren. The losers held an 8-3 bulge for the first five innings on four runs in the second and two each in the fourth and fifth frames. Trinity had scored once in the first and twice in the third.

Milan Gorby's round-tripper in the last of the seventh accounted for the Trinity win. Bud England was the winning hurler, allowing only one hit in a relief stint. Trimmer started for Trinity. Gorby also had a single. Trinity had six hits to five for Church of the Brethren.

Greengrass, Smith Lead Reds in Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — The batting power of Jim Greengrass, the effectiveness of Bud Podbielan for eight innings and the fine relief job of Frank Smith brought the Cincinnati Reds a 5-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves last night.

The win placed the Reds 1½ games out of first division and stopped a three - game losing streak.

Greengrass homered in the first frame with two teammates aboard and socked in Roy McMillan with a single in the eighth. The round-tripper was the 15th this season for the 26-year-old outfielder.

Podbielan, who won his sixth game against three losses, limited the Braves to four singles in the first eight innings, two of them by relief pitcher Dave Jolly, former Redleg farm hand. Jolly scored the first Milwaukee tally in the sixth after Bill Bruton followed Jolly's example with a single. Jolly scored from third on a sacrifice fly.

Pod walked two men while striking out three. But his control vanished in the ninth. Hank Aaron immediately banged out a single and Eddie Mathews followed with his 19th home run of 1954.

Reliable Smith came to the rescue, although Frank was somewhat shaky, walking the first man he faced. Andy Pafko simplified his task, however, by fouling out to Ted Kluszewski. Danny O'Connel reached first on an error. Del Crandall was the second out, flying to McMillan.

Smith bore down on pinchhitter Jack Dittmer, striking him out to end the game.

The entire Redleg batting order was up at the plate in the four-run first inning. Starting pitcher Ernie Johnson struck out leadoff man Chuck Harmon, but the next five men got to base.

McMillan walked, scoring on Gus Bell's double. Klu was given an intentional base on balls and he and Bell came home on Greengrass' big blow over the right field screen.

After Wally Post lined to center, Jolly came to the mound. He permitted Ed Bailey a harmless single and then pitched no hit ball for the next six frames.

McMillan doubled off Jolly's replacement, Lew Burdette, in the eighth for the first Red hit since the opening frame. Greengrass' single brought him around.

Indianapolis Slows St. Paul's AA Drive

By The Associated Press

An Indianapolis comeback in the late innings halted St. Paul's opening bid to push into American Association pennant contention last night.

The Indians increased their lead over the runnerup Saints to 9½ games by winning, 3-2.

Rocky Colavito's single, two intentional walks and Owen Friend's single scored the winning run in the ninth inning.

In other Association games:

The Toledo Sox scored 10 runs in the third inning and beat the Columbus Red Birds 17-5. Principal victim was Red Bird righthander Herb Moford, who gave up five of seven Sox hits in the big frame—including a triple by Jack Daniels and doubles by George Crowe and Bob Thorpe. Ben Johnson got the pitching victory, scattering nine Columbus hits.

Ike Delock limited Charleston to four hits as Louisville beat the Senators 2-0.

The Kansas City-Minneapolis game was rained out.

TEEN LEAGUE TO MEET

An important meeting of Marion County Teen League commissioners has been slated for Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the dressing rooms at Lincoln Park. All managers in the American and National divisions are asked to attend for the purpose of selecting two all-star teams. The all-star game was originally scheduled for Sunday but has been postponed indefinitely.

Delaware Park has five race tracks: the main oval, two steeplechase courses, a ⅝ mile training track for flat runners and a steeplechase schooling course.

UPPER SANDUSKY — Henry Roberson, coach of basketball, track and baseball at Sycamore High School, has resigned to accept a similar post at Anthony Wayne High School near Toledo.

In six years at Sycamore, he coached five Wyandot County League basketball champions and this year saw his baseball team win two games in the regionals after taking the county and district championships.

Lifts Streak to 28

Schoendienst Setting Sights On NL Consecutive Hit Mark

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al (Red) Schoendienst, one of baseball's most consistent stars, was making a bid today for the modern National League consecutive game hitting record.

The unassuming second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, who for years has been one of baseball's top stars, although in the shadow of the great Stan Musial, hit safely in his 28th straight game last night.

He needs to hit safely in each of the next 10 games to top the modern league mark of 37 set by Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves in 1945. Should he achieve that goal, he owns the fourth highest consecutive hitting skein.

Joe Dimaggio established the major league record of 56 with the 1941 New York Yankees. Willie Keeler of the 1897 Baltimore Orioles holds the all-time National League mark of 44. George Sisler hit in 41 straight games for the St. Louis Browns in 1922 and Ty Cobb connected safely in 40 games for the 1911 Detroit Tigers.

Another fine second baseman, Nellie Fox, collected three hits including a two-run single that climaxed a four-run seventh inning to give the Chicago White Sox an 8-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland's loss, together with New York's 6-5 triumph over Washington, trimmed the Indians' first place American League lead over the Yankees to three games. Jim Rivera also starred at the bat for Chicago, hammering two home runs and a single while scoring four runs.

The Yankees overcame a 5-1 deficit, scoring three times in the eighth with the aid of a throwing error by Washington third baseman Eddie Yost and bagging the tying and winning runs in the ninth on hits by Gil McDougald and Bill Skowron and a sacrifice fly by Mickey Mantle.

Brooklyn ended a three-game losing streak, edging out the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5 on Roy Campanella's two-run homer in the 10th but remained 6½ games behind the National League leading New York Giants who whipped Pittsburgh 6-3. Johnny Antonelli went the route for his 13th Giant victory.

Campanella, who earlier has disclosed that two fingers of his left hand had become numb following an operation last May, also ignited a three-run ninth inning rally with a double that overcame a 5-2 deficit. Two walks and a base-clearing double by Pee Wee Reese accounted for the three tying runs.

Jim Greengrass batted in four runs with a homer and single to give Cincinnati a 5-3 victory over Milwaukee. Gene Baker cracked four hits and drove in four runs to lead the Cubs to a 6-4 victory over the Cardinals. Baker got his fourth hit in the 11th inning when the Cubs broke through for the winning runs.

Pitcher Duane Pillette pitched and batted Baltimore to a 7-5 victory over Detroit. His single scored what proved to be the winning runs as the Orioles snapped a five-game losing streak.

Four home runs—two by shortstop Joe Demastri—gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 9-3 triumph over Boston as Alex Kellner went the distance for his fifth triumph against eight losses.

Wilhelm Team, Hinton Win in Little Leagues

Wilhelm upset Vance, National League pace-setters, 3-2 last night in Little League baseball activity at Robert Scott Field.

The other contest saw Hinton dispose of Osgood 7-2.

Wilhelm's was held to four hits by Stan Larkin and Phil Reid, the Vance hurlers, but moved all its runs in the sixth on two hits.

A walk, single and Rocky Evans' seventh homer of the year accounted for the winning margin in the sixth. Vance scored once in the first and once in the fourth for its run production.

Scooter Bailey was chedited with the win, his fourth against two setbacks. He struck out 10 and walked two while surrendering six hits to the losers. Larkin absorbed the loss for Vances, his third against a pair of wins. He and Reid, who came on in duirng the sixth, fanntd four and walked four.

Evans had two hits to pace the Wilhelm offense. Reid collected a pair of hits for the losers.

Three-hit hurling by John Prichard paced Hinton to its win over Osgood in the opener.

Prichard limited the losers to all their runs in the third while he struck out 16 and walked eight. The win was his fourth against a single loss. Doug Beaver, now 1-4, was the loser for Osgood. Stu Flesher came in in the fourth.

The Osgood hurlers were touched for six hits. They struck out eight and walked three.

Hinton sealed the encounter with five runs on three hits in the fourth after netting its first run in the preceding frame. A run in the fifth concluded its scoring.

Pony Leaguer Hurls No-Hitter For G&G Nine

Bob Lister hurled a no-hitter as G & G Homes edged VFW 3-2 in Pony League action at Lincoln Park last night. Alloy blanked Clark Metal 4-0 in the other tilt.

Deprived of his shutout in the final frame, Lister fanned eight and walked three over the seven-inning route.

His mates backed up his no-hit stint with a five-hit attack off Flesher of VFW for a run in the third, fifth and sixth frames.

Flesher whiffed five G & G Homes batters while issuing five free passes to first.

Welty led the winners' attack with a pair of base knocks.

Harris hurled the shutout for Alloy over Clark Metal. He gave up only three hits while striking out 13 and walking five.

The winners garnered six hits off Clark Metal pitching for runs in the first, second, third and fifth frames.

Nine Alloy batters went down on third strikes while four reached first on walks.

Walters collected two hits for Alloy while Penry had two for the losers.

The contest was played under protest by Lou Crowdis, Clark Metal manager, from the second inning.

Casey Depends On Pitching for All-Star Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—Casey Stengel seeking his first All-Star victory in five attempts, hopes to neutralize the National League's awesome power with one of the strongest pitching staffs ever assembled for a midsummer classic.

In contrast to last year when he was caught short with only six pitchers, the grizzled New York Manager will bring nine hurlers to Cleveland's Municipal Stadium next Tuesday. This group includes most of the biggest winners in the American League.

Headed by 11-game winners Mike Garcia of Cleveland and Virgil Trucks and 12-game victor Bob Keegan of Chicago, the staff lists three flingers who have won nine games and three who have won seven. On the other hand, only three of the seven National League pitchers have turned in as many as nine triumphs.

The National League suffered a drastic blow when Harvey Haddix became unavailable because of the recurrence of a leg injury.

Softball Action Slated

A contest tonight here and a pair of all-star games Sunday have been announced by the city softball commission.

Mac's Trading Post of Marion will take on Sons of Herman of Mansfield tonight at Garfield Park. Then Sunday, beginning at 7 p.m., two all-star softball contests are carded at Garfield Park.

The city softball commission's benefit all-star doubleheader will find Paul Rice's all-stars battling Alan Kreidler and Fred Smith's all-stars in the opening game. In the second tilt, John Ruth and Roy Shirk's all-stars will meet Harold Smith's all-stars.

Comfort Added To Rooms for Hospital Nurse

Accommodations Have Latest in Furnishings For Homelike Living

Hospitals are alert to the importance of providing modern, comfortable and colorful quarters.

Long ago hospital administrators bowed to their patients' insistence that rooms and wards be cheerful, colorful and attractively furnished Now they are busy bowing to the indisputable fact that what is good for the patient is also good for the nurse As a result new nurses' residences are designed to keep the students as comfortable and happy as possible

The Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago is one of the institutions around the country that has recognized the drawing power of pleasant, homelike surroundings and has done something about it This hospital's new Sprague Home for Nurses is a handsome, modern 14-story structure that affords the ultimate in comfort and convenience

The well-appointed foyer is much like the lobby of one of the newer apartment houses, while the entire southeast section of the ground floor is taken up by the main lounge This is an impressive and handsome room, boasting a ceiling that's a story-and-half high a huge wood-burning fireplace with an outsize mirror above its mantel, and a south wall of glass through which may be seen a terrace and the tennis court site The well-kept floor has a deep rug of blue-gray that blends with walls painted a soft blue As an added color note, a mural of pink dogwood blossoms covers one section of the blue wall

The chalk-white of the enamel on the woodwork is repeated in three massive and gracefully designe chandeliers Near the fireplace stands a grand piano, refinished in antique ivory for its new surroundings On such social occasions as capping services, graduation and dances this main lounge may be enlarged by pushing back the accordion doors that separate it from adjoining lounges

The west end of the ground level is given over to a series of little rooms called "date parlors" Each of these miniature sitting rooms has a different color scheme Close by is a compact, neat kitchen in which a student may prepare coffee and a snack for her guests

On the second and third floors of the building are located the faculty offices the nursing arts classroom, the chemistry laboratory, the dietetics laboratory the library and all general classrooms The paint-colors used throughout this floor are as light and restful as they are varied

The 4th to 14th floors are residential, with accommodations for 300 students Each nurse has a private room that is decorated in one of six attractive color schemes The furniture is of blond mahogany and includes desk, bookcase, a large chest of drawers and a lounge chair in addition to a comfortable sofa-bed

Every residence floor has its own lounge where students may gather for bridge or conversation Adjoining is a kitchenette electrically equipped where the girls may make coffee for themselves and cook anything from cake to spaghetti Even-numbered floors have a laundry room, complete with washing machine, electric clothes dryer, ironing board and iron. In the penthouse lounge off the sundeck, there's a TV set for those who do not wish to go down to the little TV "theater" on the ground floor. Nearby is a sewing room, done in pale yellow and soft green containing a large work table and three sewing machines.

PENETRATING SEALER

The penetrating sealer type of finish is ideal for maple and birch floors The sealers have penetrating qualities that become an integral part of the wood After application, the finish wears away only as the wood itself wears away Excellent sealer finish products are available at hardware and paint stores, as well as at many local lumber yards.

First Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: Can you tell me if there is anything on the market to protect a linoleum-like wall-covering from heat? I have a garbage burner that I use during the winter and it stands about one foot away from the wall At times it gets very hot and I am afraid the wall-covering will be ruined If possible, I would like a reflecting shield that could be put up temporarily.

A: You can have a sheet-metal of highly polished stainless steel or aluminum This shield is then placed half way between the back of the incinerator and the wall and should afford sufficient protection

Q: Two years ago we "blacktopped" our driveway and last year applied a sealing coat Since then our car has leaked oil and grease which has seeped into the blacktop and softened it Is there any way we can clean off the oil and grease? We have used washing powder, ammonia etc, but it doesn't help.

A: There really isn't much you can do because the oil and grease have mixed with the petroleum in the asphalt. You might try sprinkling dry portland cement generously over the softened area. The cement might eventually absorb the softened asphalt and harden it to some extent, so that the stickiness won't be so apparent

Q: In our home we have black and white asphalt tile and when we clean it the water becomes milky white. What can I do to solve this problem? The finish on the tile is rather dull.

A: I suspect that you are cleaning the tile with a harsh cleaner or you are using a paste floor wax Both of these materials would be likely to cause some of the color to come off All composition floor-covering materials should be washed with a mild soap or one of the special cleaners on sale at floor-covering shops, followed by thorough rinsing with clear water Asphalt tile should only be polished with a self-polishing wax

Q: The plaster on a wall of our vestibule has a large yellow spot resembling an oil stain The plaster has never been painted and we would like to know how to treat this before we apply paint Our home was built of used timber and some of the boards were oil stained Could this be the cause of the discoloration?

A: It is very likely that the discoloration is brought about by the fact that plaster has come in contact with an oil-soaked timber You might be able to prevent the oil from seeping though the paint by coating the spot with pure, fresh, white shellac. The only other remedy would be to remove the discolored plaster and coat the wood with a stain sealing preparation The better stocked paint stores should have this material in stock.

Kitchen Sinks Most Abused, Bureau Claims

Scratches From Pots, Chemical Stains Called Two Causes of Damage

Kitchen sinks probably take more abuse than any other home plumbing fixture according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau This is not because the sink is the most used fixture (bathroom lavatories get the most traffic) but because it bears the brunt of the most severe usage

Two common causes of damage to sinks are scratches from pots and pans and chemical stains produced by overexposure to fruit and vegetable acids or household chemicals

The bottoms of cooking utensils for example, usually contain thousands of minute irregularities and dirt particles which scratch the surface of a sink when they are dragged across it Also dropping heavy objects into enameled sinks may chip the enamel

Most kitchen sinks produced today are of an acid-resistant quality However even the finest grade sink is not entirely impervious to stains as a result of prolonged exposure to fruit or vegetable acids Often these stains are difficult to remove

Another frequent cause of damage to sinks is scrubbing with abrasive cleaning compounds Actually, plain soap and water are all that are needed to clean any plumbing fixture Abrasive cleaners should never be used The glassy surface of a new plumbing fixture is much the same quality of hardness as a fine mirror—and just as easy to keep clean

A kitchen sink which has been cared for properly will retain its new look indefinitely and be the pride and joy of the housewife for years to come

HANDY RACK

Hair Washing Results Aided By Soft Water

Group Reports Luster Added by Eliminating Sticky, Clinging Scum

The woman who has her hair shampooed and set at a beauty parlor is sometimes inclined to wonder why she cannot duplicate the same satisfactory results when she does the job herself at home.

The reason may very well be a difference in the quality of the water used, The Water Conditioning Foundation points out. Operators of beauty parlors know that a soft and lustrous-looking coiffure cannot be achieved following a hard-water shampoo. Soft water, they have found, is an invaluable aid in practicing their art and skill.

The woman who shampoos her hair at home with hard water may be dissatisfied with the results for the soap in a shampooing compound reacts with hard water to form a sticky, clinging scum.

Every hair, if examined under a microscope, would be seen to have its coating of this scum, which is virtually impossible to rinse away. The result is dry, dull-looking, and brittle hair.

If hair is to be that crowning glory in which every woman takes justifiable pride, it must be shampooed in soft water. Modern home water softening equipment, inexpensive to install, will provide an abundance of softened water for this and many other household cleaning and bathing needs.

Water softening equipment may be purchased outright by the homeowner, or installed on a monthly rental basis by a water softening service organization.

Paper Protects Floor While Painting Radiator

Before painting a radiator, be sure to clean it thoroughly. To protect the floor while you are painting, slide a stiff piece of paper under the radiator. Use a long-handled 1½-inch brush and paint the insides of the flutings first. Unless you detach the radiator, there'll be areas you'll have to skip, of course.

To estimate the amount of paint you'll need for the various surfaces of a radiator, measure the front area and multiply by seven. If, for instance, your radiator is three feet and four feet long, you'd have 12 square feet of area — times seven — or 84 square feet for which you'd need paint.

June Construction Awards Increase Reported by Dodge

NEW YORK — June contract awards for future construction in the 37 eastern states were "substantially" above those for the corresponding month of 1953, F. W. Dodge Corporation has announced.

George Cline Smith, Dodge economist, said that tabulations completed through June 22 had already exceeded the total for the entire month of June, 1953.

"Contract awards reported through June 22," Dr. Smith said, "totalled $1,132,000,000, compared with the total of $1,116,000,000 reported in all of June, 1953.

"The first weeks of June ran 34 per cent ahead of the corresponding period of June, 1953, in spite of the fact that there were 18 working days in the period last year and only 17 this year.

"When the final portion of June has been added to the three-week total, the month will be substantially ahead of the same month last year and will approach and possibly exceed the all-time June record set in 1952.

"Thus the high levels of contract awards which have been an outstanding feature of the economic scene all through this year are continuing. Since contract awards precede actual construction activity, we may expect the construction industry to operate at or near record levels for the next several months at least."

Portable Room Air Cleaner Removes Bacteria in Homes

Dust, pollen and bacteria in homes are removed by a new electronic, portable room air cleaner now on the market.

The cleaner, in a neutral grey cabinet to blend in with any color scheme, can be moved throughout the house and plugged into any 115 volt AC outlet. Its functions are to: cut housework, such as washing woodwork and dusting; save on decorating expense; protect family health; and provide hay fever and dust allergy relief.

Called the "Dustronic" air cleaner, it has a two-speed fan which pulls air into the unit through an aluminum filter. Virus, bacteria and other micro organisms are destroyed by a germicidal plate coating in the unit and purified air is distributed through the top.

Made by the Radex Corporation of Chicago, it is sold locally by J. E. Oliphant and Co., 505 Uhler Bldg.

1954 Labeled Good Year for Home Building

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce calls 1954 the best year for home building since before World War II.

In a bulletin put out by the Chamber's Construction and Civic Development Department, the following advantages to building this year are listed:

1. The cost situation is stable. Prices of building materials have eased and wages for construction workers are constant.

2. Jobs can be scheduled for completion with precision. Warehouses are well-stocked with materials so that orders can be filled promptly.

3. Competition between contractors is much keener than in many years. As a result, profit margins are being shaved more closely.

4. Interest rates have declined in areas near financial centers. More liberal FHA and VA loan terms are available and the financial situation appears stable.

The Chamber advises against waiting for even better conditions. A stiffening of prices is likely to come, causing poorer building conditions.

SHOWER CABINET

A metal pre-fabricated shower cabinet can be installed in a space as small as 32 inches square and 76 inches high. Shower cabinets are shipped knocked down and can be assembled easily.

Look for quality, durability, and adequate size in buying metal pre-fabricated shower cabinets, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau advises.

New Bathroom Possible From Wasted Areas

Plumbing Group Says Installation Eliminates Waiting in Rush Hours

Millions of American homes have spare rooms that are unfurnished, or only partly so.

Invariably, these rooms become catchalls for all sorts of odds and ends, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. Dusty and dismal, they are wasted space and are an eyesore in otherwise modern homes.

Wise homeowners are converting these rooms into attractive, useful parts of their homes. A surprisingly small investment (usually well under $1,000) can transform a spare room into a real convenience to the family—a new bathroom.

Many people living in homes with only one bathroom are in desperate need of additional facilities. A new bathroom would eliminate a lot of needless waiting in line during the morning and evening rush hours. Also, a new bath installed on the first floor of a two-story house would do away with constant tracking up and down the stairs.

Real estate agents point out that an extra bath is a good investment in value as well as convenience. It will add at least another $1,000 to $1,500 to the sales value of a home, or it will bring in an additional $10 to $20 a month in rent if you decide to rent the house.

Most of the cost of adding a new bathroom can be financed by an FHA home modernization loan at very low interest rates. Or in many cases bankers will arrange to add new financing charges to the present mortgage through an "open-end" mortgage arrangement.

Damp Cellar Vapors Cause House Damage

Damage to a house can be caused by vapor carried by convection air currents up into the wall interspace from a damp cellar.

Such dampness may be the result of leaks in the foundation, seepage of sub-surface drainage water into the basement, leaky plumbing or the condensation of moisture on cold water pipes in damp humid weather. For the protection of the investment your house represents, it is exceedingly important to prevent the entrance of such damaging moisture.

Experts estimate that Americans have twice the spending power they had in 1940.

Growing Pains

Nourishment for Garden Plants Taken by Weeds

By ALBERT S. FULLING
Associated Press Writer

The garden is made . . . The sun is warm . . . And the heat is on . . .

The heat is on the gardener.

Weeds . . . weeds . . . weeds . . . they keep the heat on.

Weeds thrive on neglect.

Yet, you can keep the weed situation in hand easier than you can attack plant diseases, combat drought or slog through overmoist conditions.

All you have to do is get rid of them.

THIS IS THE TIME of the year, while the seedlings still are in their formative stages that you've got the biggest problem. Sometimes the weeds grow faster than the seedlings. Then you've got to pick and choose. Some weeds are so fantastically deceptive that they take the form and appearance of valuable flower plantings.

Weeds really do a job on your garden. They take nourishment from the plants you want. They shade the good plants, and they are a swell place for harmful insects to breed and get a foothold, spreading disease throughout the area.

They're not very sightly either.

Every day is W-day in the garden.

—:—

YOU'VE GOT to fight the weeds in the lawn, the flower beds, the shrub section, around trees, and in the vegetable garden.

You can pull 'em out by hand, become the man with the hoe, get a cultivator, use a weed killer, blanket them with mulch . . . any way you can do it, do it. Weeds are no friends.

Just pulling off the weed leaves won't give you too much relief. You've got to get to the root of the matter. This means soaking the area to be weeded first.

The roots will slide out easier. If it's a deep-rooted weed, water well, grasp the weed firmly at ground level and tug. You'll win. You'll be surprised, perhaps, at the depth to which some of those weed roots go.

Once you've got the area well weeded, give yourself a break. Mulch well. This will help keep them down.

WEEDS IN GENERAL are annuals. This means you've got to combat them year after year. One of the main things to bear in mind is to get after them before they go to seed. If you don't, this will multiply your problem next year.

And if your neighbor is a lazy boy, and lets the weeds get ahead of him, get after him too. His weeds and your weeds can make an unhappy combination for you, once he lets them go to seed.

While cultivating weeds, don't get too much brawn behind the effort. Most welcome plants are shallow rooted, and you can cultivate out your good stock if you're not careful. About an inch deep is enough in most cases, if close to most annual flower or vegetable plantings.

In gardening:

Once you've gone to seed you've got to weed.

NEW PLUMBING IDEAS

New methods and new ideas are being adopted by the plumbing industry to improve service to its customers. Some plumbing wholesalers are delivering merchandise by helicopter; a number of plumbing contractors have equipped their service trucks with two-way radios to speed up service on repair calls; and some plumbing contractors are using radioactive isotopes and Geiger counters to detect leaks in concealed piping.

TWIN LAVATORIES

Twin countertop lavatories are a wise investment for homeowners who want to relieve some of the bathroom congestion during morning and evening rush hours. Twin lavatories, the Plumbing and Heating Idustries Bureau explains, permit two people to wash up at the same time, and the countertop area provides plenty of space for toilet articles while the fixtures are in use.

Building Permits

Ten building permits with total valuation of $17,345 were issued at the Marion City Clerk's office in the week from July 2 through 8.

The permits were:

New Construction

Albert and Harold Garver, Fies Ave., house $4,000.

Nearly 3 1/3 Billion Bushels

Record Corn Crop Seen Despite Federal Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's corn crop at 3,311,493,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 968,321,000 bushels.

This was the first estimate for corn, which is being grown under federal controls calling for a reduction of 17.4 per cent in the acreage in the commercial corn producing counties of the country. By comparison, last year's crop was 3,176,615,000 bushels and the 10-year (1943-52) average was 3,057,464,000.

The forecast for wheat is 11,240,000 bushels less than last month's official prediction of 999,561,000 bushels. It compares with 1,168,536,000 last year and 1,121,506,000 for the 10-year average.

Wheat also is being grown under rigid controls providing for a 17 per cent reduction in plantings and for marketing quotas to limit sales to grain grown on alloted acres. Controls were imposed on both corn and wheat because of the existence of surplus supplies.

The acreage planted to corn was estimated at 80,164,000 acres. This compares with a goal of 71,589,000 acres under the control program and with 81,403,000 planted for last year's crop. The wheat acreage was put at 53,726,000 acres, compared with an allotment of 63,000,000 under the control program and with 78,741,000 planted for last year's crop.

The wheat estimate included 758,440,000 bushels of winter wheat and 229,881,000 bushels of spring wheat. This compares with last month's winter wheat forecast of 739,917,000 bushels, last year's production of 877,511,000 and a 10-year average fo 832,977,000.

The spring wheat estimate compares with 259,644,000 indicated a month ago and with 291,025,000 last year and 289,529,000 for the 10-year average.

The spring crop was broken down between 18,654,000 bushels of durum wheat and 211,227,000 bushels of spring wheat other than durum. This was the first forecast of the year for the two types of spring wheat. Production last year included 12,967,000 bushels of durum compared with 35,496,000 for the 10-year average and 278,058,000 bushels of spring wheat other than durum compared with 253,044,000 for the 10-year average.

Rye production was forecast at 23,102,000 bushels compared with 20,939,000 indicated a month ago, 17,998,000 last year and 22,149,000 for the 10-year average.

The acreage for harvest, the yield per acre and then indicated production, respectively, of important crops for Ohio included:

Corn 3,672,000: 55 and 201,960,000

Winter Wheat 1,764,000, 27 and 47, 628,000.

Oats 1,208,000, 42 and 50, 736,000.

Soybeans (acreage only) 1,202,000 acres grown alone for all purposes and 1,178,00 acres to be harvested for beans.

Baptist Men's Group Backs Camp Project

Responsibility for a camp project for benefit of Baptist young people in the area has been under taken by the Men's Brotherhood of the Marion Baptist Association.

Acquiring of a camp site and building of the camp were important items for discussion at a recent meeting of the men held at Fite Memorial Baptist Church. Harry Woodall of Trinity Church in Marion is the president of the men's organizatin which includes 13 churches.

A guest from Granville, Rev. W. T. Packer who is director of Christian education for the Ohio Baptist Convention, presented various phases of the subject of camps. He gave in detail the story of development of the camping program in Ohio, and reported that Rev. J. B. Holloway of Trinity Church in Marion has been named chairman of a committee appointed by the trustees of the state convention for the purpose of exploring the possibilities of and locating sites for two state owned camps.

The committee of the Marion Association working on the camp project includes Harold Thomas of Memorial Church in Marion, W. R. Beavers of Richwood, Rev. Norman Renn of the Fite Church, Rev. Billy Evans of Prospect, and Rev. A. H. Nothstine of Green Camp.

Dana G. Barber of Marion, area director for the North Central District, Ohio Council of American Baptist Men, told of the need of camping facilities in the Mount Vernon and Mansfield Associations and spoke of the geographical possibilities in the three associations for the choosing of a camp site. Rev. Renn reported on difficulties experienced in use of present camp sources, inconveniences of renting camps owned by other organizations, and similar drawbacks in regard to arrangements.

It was voted to invite the Mount Vernon and Mansfield Associations to share in the project, with the previously named committee of the Marion Association taking the initiative in the development of projected plans in this new camp movement.

Eyes of the Master

A Sermonette

By REV. FLETCHER E. SHOUP
Pastor of Prospect Street Methodist Church

Following an accident, Clarence Hawkes, a blind naturalist, had one leg amputated when he was 10 years old. Three years later he was totally blinded by an accidental gunshot. Yet with all of these handicaps he wrote over 50 books about nature in his lifetime. In explaining this remarkable achievement he said, "As a boy I stored up on photographic plates within my mind many thousands of pictures of brooks and woods, birds and flowers. They were developed in the dark room of my soul, where they still remain clear and beautiful . . . Blindness has made it evident to me that my work in life is to teach other people how to see."

Although there are many who use only meagerly the capacities with which man is endowed who as the Master said, "Having eyes, they see not."—yet there are others who find the key to a full, free, and liberated life in spite of many handicaps. There are those unique people who although physically blind see many things that are invisible to them.

OUR MASTER although not physically blind, was also one whose vision penetrated into the invisible and unknown, permanent pictures of which have been recorded for mankind. In a very real sense, his mission in life was to teach other people how to see. What are these things he saw that he wanted us to see also?

First, Christ saw the grandeur of everyday life. His eyes never failed to look for the places of greatest human need. He went out of his way to help others, doing whatever good he could, sharing with them in their longings and heartaches. He found his life in the ordinary beauties and simple things of life that other men passed by on the other side.

Second, Christ saw beyond the present into the future where he found the answer for his own immediate circumstances of hardship, which held him steady and poised in his own adversities.

THIRD, CHRIST saw beneath the external appearance of people into the inner depths of their hearts. What he saw in the hearts of people caused him to love them—not for the wrong they had done, but for what they could become.

Fourth, Christ's vision also penetrated beyond the obvious and visible into the invisible world of spiritual reality where he saw eternal values and purposes.

In the heart of this world he saw God, whose will he was determined to do, that man might see in Him God the Father. "I must be about my Father's Business. I and the Father are one. He that has seen me has seen the Father." That Christ succeeded in showing men the world of the eternal is given eloquent expression in man's word about him "The light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." This is the heart of what Christ wanted men to see—that through him they could come into a transforming and liberating relationship with the living God.

THERE ARE at least six marks of this tremendous experience of seeing and coming into this world of the eternal:

1. The sense of forgiveness, the sense that whatever has been between you and God is completely gone.

2. New sense of power, power over evil and power to do and be what seemed to be impossible before.

3. A new sense of peace, a quiet heart and an inner serenity that gives one poise and strength even in adverse circumstances.

4. A new sense of joy, an infectious gayety of spirit that enables one to "grin and bear it," to smile even through tears, a joy that even hardship and suffering cannot take away.

5. The greatest test of all—a new sense of love, an outgoing to love for others, including those who criticize, condemn, and misunderstand us.

6. A sense of responsibility of sharing this experience with others—which if truly possessed by us in something that we cannot help but pass along, and which others long for when they see it in us, causing them to say, "I would give anything to be like that. I wish I had what he has," not meaning our wealth or health, but what we have received from Christ.

THE EYES OF JESUS say many things. Jesus was deeply touched that men did not see as he did, saying in sorrow of them, "Having eyes they see not."

But in joy he said of others, "Blessed are your eyes for they see."

Caution Urged For Summer's Vacation Hikes

NEW YORK — (UP) — Off to walk a mountain, tramp the woods, or wade a stream this summer? Then, make sure you return to civilization, safe, not sorry.

That's the word from safety experts to all hikers, from six to 60.

Summer is the season for accidents, they report. It's the great outdoors that's largely responsible—for every wilderness contains a pitfall as well as a paradise.

If you're planning a hike — overnight, all day, or even just for the afternoon — check first to be sure you have this equipment:

Ability to administer first aid. Even minor injuries require prompt attention on the spot. This is particularly true of burns. They should be covered immediately with petroleum jelly, then bandaged, to prevent infection. No hiker should be without a first aid kit, even if he's only on a few hours' jaunt. A minimum list of items would be clean bandages and tape, petroleum jelly, a good disinfectant, scissors and aspirin.

Knowledge of the type of accident most likely to occur. Burns, drowning and falls rank high, according to insurance company statistics. Cuts, bruises, strains, and even faintings also are very common. Knowledge should also encompass the terrain you're tracking. Is the water in the spring safe for drinking. What about poisonous snakes? And above all, know the difference between ordinary oak and ivy and the other kind.

Caution — Most injuries while hiking are caused by carelessness or by over-enthusiasm, something children are especially susceptible to. Teach them not to leap from rock to rock, hurdle logs, or swing from tree branches. The rock may be slippery, the log may hide a swamp on the other side and the branch may be rotted.

OF COURSE

TOKYO — (UP) — An upper house committee complained to Tokutaro Kimura, head of Japan's growing military force, that his naval frigates sought safety in a recent storm that whipped across Hokkaido instead of helping stricken fishing boats. "Our frigates never sought haven," Kimura replied proudly. "They only temporarily changed their course."

DOG ALARM

BRAZIL, Ind. — (UP) — When Emil Glineur Sr., 80, collapsed in his chair from apoplexy, his dog, Bubble, ran to an adjoining bedroom and pawed at the covers of a bed until Glineur's son awakened and went to his father's aid.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Have Power Over Your Troubles

A woman once came to see me about her husband, and as she told me what a bad state he was in, she herself was so excited and nervous that I began to think she was the cause of his problems. We men always seem to think that the trouble is with the woman, and in this case I found myself doing just that.

DR. PEALE

However, she arranged for me to meet her husband, and then I knew right away that he was the cause of his own troubles, and of his wife's as well. They had been married for many years, and it was quite a feat to have stood him that long. He was an extremely nervous, super - sensitive, high - geared individual; she was normally calm, quiet, lethargic and passive. He was extraordinarily volatile, due no doubt to the many conflicts with which his mind was filled. This constant tension in their home was gradually breaking his wife down until she was at the verge of nervous prostration.

"I love my wife," he told me, "but I do seem to drive her to distraction. She should never have married me. I suppose what I ought to do is die and let her have a few years of peace."

"She wouldn't be happy if you did that," I said. "She wants you to change, not pass out."

"How can I ever change?" he asked me.

I THOUGHT TO MYSELF that for him to change would indeed be quite a proposition. But do you know it is marvelous how God works with people. In a Unity magazine I had seen an affirmation which had impressed me no end. I gave it to this man and instructed him, "Say this about a dozen times every day and it will do something for you." He wrote the words on a piece of paper and promised to use the affirmation.

These were the words I gave him: "God is the only power and presence in my life." Just think of the power in a statement like that, when you conceive and affirm that the mighty power of Almighty God is working in you. Try it yourself and you will find that if you say those words until your conscious mind accepts them, the truth they express will drive into your unconscious being. As a result you will be filled with an awareness of the presence of God and His power to give you renewal and strength.

THAT WAS THE WAY it worked for this particular man. I knew at once that he had improved, for I met his wife one day and she was so much better. "You're better," I commented.

"Oh," she replied, "you just wouldn't believe how much different I am. And I'm better because my husband is better. An enormous change has come over him. He has become quiet, composed and controlled. Today he rises over the difficulties that used to overwhelm him. Often when I'm with him, I have had a feeling of the presence of God." What a testimony for a wife to make about her husband.

It's easy enough to read a story like this and be inspired by it. But do you believe it enough to practice every day, in every circumstance and difficulty, the truth that God is with you too, giving you power over your difficulties.

I have spent most of my adult life trying to convince people of this great and glorious fact. It is the most important thought I can leave with anyone. God can actually be with you, if you believe in and affirm His power and presence. This will give you power over all your difficulties. In every human life there is some difficulty, but for every such difficulty, God has the answer.

Girl Relates Story of Beatings, Assault by Mother, Stepfather

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A little girl, her thrice-broken left arm still in a cast, her lips misshapen and her front teeth missing, says that for two years she was beaten by her mother and stepfather.

Although stunted by malnutrition, crippled by three broken vertebrae and partly blind, Celia Sanchez, 9, told her graphic story calmly.

Already on trial for mayhem, felonious assault and assault with a deadly weapon is Mrs. Trinidad Sanchez Vera, 28, the mother. And after Celia testified, the stepfather was arrested.

Joe Cruz Vera, 43, was jailed in lieu of $10,000 bond on four counts of felonious assault and one of child molestation. He had testified the day before blaming the beatings on his wife and saying he was afraid to tell authorities because he had served a prison term for rape.

At times as Celia told her story, weeping spectators arose and left the courtroom. She told of her arms being twisted until they broke and then twisted again; of being hit with shoes, forks and knives until she bled; of being forced to eat hot chili peppers; of having her hands held under scalding water.

First she told of beatings she said were given by her mother. Then she said of her stepfather:

"He threw a knife at me once. It landed in my back. Another time he threw a knife at me and it cut my lip."

She tesified he once broke her arm by stomping on it, injured her spine with a stick, slapped and beat her.

When the child's plight was discovered last April 27, the mother was arrested and Celia hospitalized for extensive treatments.

Burke Blasts Delay in Study Of Gas Rate Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's gas consumers still need a law to protect them from rate increases that might run into billions of dollars, Sen. Burke (D-Ohio) said Friday.

In a letter to Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), Burke said he was disappointed that a hearing on Ferguson's bill had been postponed indefinitely. The bill had proposed such protection.

Burke had invited mayors from 12 Ohio communities to come here to support the bill. Burke said Ferguson requested the postponement to permit further study and because Ferguson believed a recent supreme court decision made a new law unnecessary.

The bill would reverse a power commission ruling that pipe line gas companies may base rates on the value of field reserves rather than on original cost of investment.

The supreme court recently held that independent gas producers who supply pipeline companies are subject to federal regulations.

Burke said he hopes Ferguson will reconsider the postponement. Copies of his letter were sent to mayors of Akron, Kent, Canton and Hamilton, Ohio.

Kremlin Needs the U.N.

One misgiving stirred by the strong American stand against admitting Communist China to the United Nations concerns the possibility the Soviet Union might press this issue to force the United States into leaving the organization it founded.

If this were the case, the forthright statements by Sen. Knowland and Sen. Johnson and the later comments by President Eisenhower would have the effect of playing into the Kremlin's hands.

But it is a fair guess this is not the case. The Kremlin needs the United Nations. It has no other mean of maintaining the Soviet Union's precarious status as a member of the family of nations in good diplomatic standing.

The Kremlin has been interested in gaining the same status for Communist China. Otherwise, there would be no alarm over the possibility it might succeed. Even more to the point, there would be no concern among U. S. officials lest the governments of Britain and France align themselves with the Kremlin in a scheme to throw a cloak of respectability around a government branded an aggressor by the United Nations, itself.

This is the great danger—that Britain and France might alienate American public opinion by forcing a showdown in the United Nations over admitting Communist China to membership. Since the question could come before the General Assembly only by consent of all five permanent members of the Security Council — the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Nationalist China and the Soviet Union — the move could be blocked by the United States. But the damage would have been done by the proposal itself.

It is that disaster which the strong statements now being made in Washington may be intended to avert.

In the American Scene

The Ohio Supreme Court's unanimous decision that the Ohio Turnpike Commission has no authority in existing law to ban roadside advertising outside its right of way throws this policy question to the Ohio General Assembly.

Before it can be decided there, some constitutional questions as well as questions about advertising practice will have to be given an airing.

We can be as burned up about too many billboards and roadside signs as anybody else. We wonder sometimes who is responsible for letting advertisers incur ill will at their own expense by overdoing a practice that must be carried on with restraint if it is going to produce good results. We wonder the same thing about some of the advertising practices on radio and television.

But advertising of all kinds is part of the American way of living. The outdoor sign and the billboard are in the American scene. While it may be thoroughly desirable for toll roads to be free of this sort of thing, we think there has to be a limit to the jurisdiction of the authorities which build them and operate them. That limit would seem to be the limit of the toll-road right-of-way.

If a farmer's wife wants Ohio Turnpike travelers to know she has fresh eggs to sell and has enough gumption to put up a sign on her own property, we don't want anyone threatening to have the law on her. We feel pretty certain the members of the General Assembly will feel that way, too.

Why Not the Grand Canyon?

Much is heard about the wallop of visual selling of intangible ideas. As we understand it, this is the technique of converting into shapes, symbols, masses etc. those things which otherwise would be left to a prospect's imagination.

For example, if the idea to be sold were the advantages of a certain kind of insurance, the salesman would equip himself with graphs and "pictographs" to give the abstractions substance, shape and color.

The technique comes to mind as the result of reading about some of the things being done with the 1954 wheat crop. It is being stored in huge piles in the open, under circus tents, in airplane hangars, warehouses, the mothball fleet and, of course, in every available place originally designed for grain storage.

A billion-bushel crop this year is competing for space with last year's carryover of almost that much. This is what Secretary of Agriculture Benson is talking about when he asks for flexible price supports, so he can drop the price of wheat down to a point where overproduction will not be feasible year after year.

But many farm-bloc congressmen can't see it that way. They are persistently and chronically obtuse about the wheat surplus. They regard it as an abstraction instead of a reality. One can only wonder under the circumstances whether it would help to fill up the Grand Canyon with the surplus wheat, then invite all the farm-bloc congressmen to come and walk over it from one side to the other.

Would that convince them the United States is piling up more wheat than it has any prospect of needing

Cloud Over New Jersey

By David Lawrence

Senate Nominee Upsets GOP Goal in State

The first Republican nominee for a seat in the U. S. Senate to stick his neck out on the McCarthy issue is Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, formerly a member of the House of Representatives.

Case says in a prepared statement that if elected he will not only vote against continuing the Wisconsin senator as chairman of the Senate Committee on Governmental Operations, but he will vote to ban him from being a member.

This sounds like a bold and courageous step because it could conceivably cost Case the election, but it really isn't as courageous as it sounds.

If the indictment made by Case is in his judgment supportable, he logically should have advocated that Sen. McCarthy be removed from the Senate altogether. If McCarthy isn't eligible to be a member of one Senate committee on account of the reasons given by Case, then he isn't eligible to sit in the Senate at all.

THIS MEANS that Case is saying to the people of Wisconsin that the man they elected in 1952 with full knowledge of his views and course of action in public office is to be debarred from serving them on important committees of the majority party as a consequence of the vote of the people of New Jersey, and any other states which concur in that procedure.

This is but another way of punishing a man for the views expressed by him in the performance of what he believes to be his duty to the people of his own state. Case is classed as a "liberal," but it is illiberal to attempt to remove a man from a Senate committee because he holds a viewpoint on public affairs different from the views of a majority of his colleagues in his party.

Case says that congressional investigations are sometimes worth while, but that Sen. McCarthy should be punished because his "participation" in the work of the committee in question has produced a "distracting and divisive effect." This assumes that there must be conformity of thought—if not thought control—in the United States Senate, and that any chairman or member of a committee with a tendency to produce "distracting or divisive" effects will be threatened with removal from membership on any committee in which he has previously served. This is an odd proposal to be offered in a republic which boasts about freedom of expression by the members of its national legislature.

"It is obvious," says Case, "that our government simply could not function if the executive departments and their personnel were subjected to constant and unjustified harassment and attack by congressional committees."

ALL THROUGH the Truman administration that happened. The Democratic administration called the inquiries on tax-fixing and RFC scandals "harassment" and Truman called the Hiss inquiry a "red herring," which was distracting attention from Republican "errors."

Case cannot give any assurance that if he helps to elect a Democrat to the United States Senate from New Jersey by causing thousands of Republicans to stay at home next autumn he will be restraining the Democrats, if they control the next Congress, from harassment of the executive departments. That would be their meat in the next two years in order to provide campaign food for the 1956 campaign, and anyone with the slightest experience with behavior of congressional committees in the last 40 years can testify that there have been many members of both houses who have ridden roughshod over executive department officials and employes, though Case says "until recently this was not a matter of general concern." Martin Dies of Texas, who headed up the House Un-American Activities Committee twenty years ago, and every chairman since has been criticized for efforts to get deceitful persons to tell the truth to their own government and to help it get rid of subversive influences.

CASE ADMITS that there is a function, however for the congressional committees. He says:

"Yet, where there is reason to suspect the existence of serious dereliction which cannot be, or is not being, remedied by the executive branch itself, the most searching scrutiny by Congress is not only proper but mandatory. On this point the lesson of the Hiss case will not be forgotten."

The grant of an honorable discharge to an officer in the Army who was declared by an undercover agent of the New York Police Department to be a Communist and who refused to tell the Army or the Senate committee whether or not the accusation was true is an instance of dereliction of duty in the executive branch which initiated the whole McCarthy-Stevens controversy.

Case's statement is not clear as to whether he will vote in a Republican caucus or in the Senate itself to ban Sen. McCarthy. If it is the latter situation, Case could be in the position of casting a decisive vote which together with the Democratic votes would elect a Democrat to be chairman of an all-important committee.

THE REAL ISSUE is whether Case intends to vote for and abide by the Republican party's decision or line up with the Democratic party, even though he seeks election as a Republican nominee.

If the New Jersey senatorial nominee had consulted the leaders of his party in Washington, they would never have advised him to issue the statement he did. As it is, there is pessimism now among Republicans in Congress about the outlook for the election of a Republican senator in New Jersey this autumn.

There are many thousands of Democrats who came over to the Republican party on the anti-Communist issue in 1952, especially in Hudson County, who will be wondering whether they should stay home, or vote Democratic next time.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: Well, there's nothing more to look forward to now in the way of special events except three or four family reunions I aim to horn in on this summer. Then it will be Labor Day and first thing you know it will be Thanksgiving. If summer comes, can winter be far behind . . . thats the way it always seems to me.

You were asking recently about a rundown on your ancestry on our side of the family and I wrote to cousin Elta, who was the secretary of the association before it disbanded, for any information she might have. Enclosed is a copy of her reply, which I am keeping among my own possessions in case the question comes up again.

It is unfortunate that in her compilation of names she has so little information about the people behind the names. But for your information I can tell you that when I was a child and growing up with the children of some of the old timers I learned that our family had two outstanding characteristics.

The men were fond of good eating and pretty women and vice versa for the women. I cannot remember that any of the old timers seemed to be conspicuously well-to-do, but it has occurred to me many times that they must have been doing pretty well to eat the way they did and to attract so many beautiful wives. Incidentally, the men, themselves, were not what you would call handsome nor were their sisters unusually pretty. But they all seemed to have vied with one another to see who could marry the best - looking mates.

Your grandfather, for example, was a fellow just a shade better looking than you, which made him only a shade less ugly than a mine mule. But as you know from the old crayon portrait of your grandmother that you prize so highly, your grandmother was possibly the most beautiful woman whose face never launched a thousand ships.

You already knew that our family started in this country with that remote ancestor named Gustav who couldn't take any more of the great Prince Metternich and powdered out on that despots' early form of modern absolutism. There used to be a lot of talk in the family about castles on the Rhine but years ago someone who was in the old neighborhood over there looked up Gustav's family and it wasn't castle - league stuff at all—just shopkeepers.

One other thing I guess you have heard me say is that your ancestors leaned toward farming and school teaching. The women taught school and the men farmed. A few of them read law and took up that profession. I remember one in particular — an old sport named Nathan — who got to be quite a good-sized frog in the local puddle and at one time rated a coach and a coachman.

If it is all right with you, I want to comment that you and I have carried on the tradition of marrying beautiful women and it is up to us to pass along the good word to your sons, so they will not make the mistake of flouting what I think should be a cherished family tradition.

My Uncle Nesbitt violated it, but he had an iron-clad excuse. Aunt Tabitha was definitely not beautiful but she made up for lack of beauty in the possession of all that money, bless her. And Uncle Nesbitt didn't mind a bit. Aunt Tabitha was so sweet and lovable no one ever really noticed how she always was outshone by the other females of the clan.

So much for your ancestors, such as they were. You have nothing to be ashamed of. That is one of the prerogatives of obscurity. Whatever black sheep there may have been did not get into the history books. They lived and died quietly in blessed obscurity, the rascals.

Perspective on Oppenheimer Case

By Raymond Moley

In a cautious interview with the press after the final decision on his case by the Atomic Energy Commission, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer said that he hoped scholars would read the record because "there is something to be learned from it."

I can join in the hope that a lot of scientists and several publicists and others will read not only the record, but the record of what they said in the public prints.

Without waiting for any public report on the case and even after the report of the Gray Personnel Security Board, many of Oppenheimer's scientific and journalistic friends made a good many foolish and mischievous statements, and Sen. Morse rushed to his feet saying, among other things, that the Gray report was schizophrenic. In more measured terms but with a similar import, Vannevar Bush contributed a long article in which he presumed to speak the minds of "scientists generally."

ONE WRITER went so far as to say that the United States needed Oppenheimer more than he needed the United States. That is to say that, after this nation has worried along without all the distinguished departed Americans of the past, we have at last found the indispensable man.

Such a comment also fails to take account of the fact that whatever Oppenheimer had of education, of opportunity for research and for distinction, he could not have had without the help of many American agencies, public and private.

There also has been the open threat in many quarters that scientists would no longer give their best, that they would drag their feet or refuse to serve their country if Oppenheimer were declared a risk.

This closely approaches blackmail, and since the Commission has defied such disloyal talk, it remains to be seen if responsible scientists will not by their actions and words repudiate such suggestions.

Another line of comment was that Oppenheimer was "politically immature" and, for some curious reason, not to be held responsible for his chronic support of subversive causes and persons. The question raised by this is how big a fool does an important man have to be to be absolved from responsibility for his acts?

Vannevar Bush speaks of the need that scientists be "solidly united" and then continues by saying that they are united and they protest what is now going on.

And so we have a group which is essential to the national security presuming to say that they and they alone will decide what security means. This, indeed, is arrogating to a professional group a function which in the nature of things must belong to legally constituted officers of government.

The determination of what security means is a relative thing, of course, but it is something that some specific somebody or somebodies must define.

They must define it in the light of the peril that threatens our country. Those somebodies have decided it will serve science as well as the nation if scientisst get backto their laboratories and go to work.

SCIENTISTS OUGHT, after reading the record, to recognize that Oppenheimer in his dabbling with the Communists was not pursuing the cause of freedom. He was helping a menacing power that has specifically repudiated the cause of freedom.

Scientists also should recognize that truth and the pursuit of truth is the basic principle of a scientist.

Oppenheimer was not behaving in the light of that principle when on one occasion after another he told that which was not the truth.

War Controls Would Be Quick

If a national emergency occurs, how long would it take to clamp on economic controls?

It took five months during World War II and three months after Korea was invaded to get controls legislation on the books. But the administration is using a "loose-leaf" approach which it believes would speed the molding of a stabilization program, Congressional Quarterly reports.

In the event an emergency made a special session of Congress necessary, one of its tasks would be to write stabilization legislation quickly. There is now no authority to set prices and wages in the Act which until last year embodied controls powers.

According to White House economic advisers, the administration does not plan to ask Congress for standby controls at the present session, now driving toward adjournment. There is no controls bill before the Senate or House Banking and Currency Committees, which handle such legislation.

A 90-day freeze order was proposed last year by Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) of the Senate Banking Committee. Watered-down by the Senate, it was opposed by the House and was dropped from the Defense Production Act revision by a conference committee. Capehart hasn't reintroduced his proposal and, according to an aide, has no plan to do so at this session.

However, a division of the Office of Defense Mobilization is dealing with long-range preparations for possible controls legislation.

Glenwood L. Sherrard, assistant director for stabilization under ODM Director Arthur S. Flemming, has said preliminary work done in the past 15 months conforms with a commitment of Flemming's to the two banking committees. The ODM director said that even though the administration did not request standby legislation, the stabilization division would take steps to be prepared for emergencies.

Sherrard's staff is consulting with business groups, and in the field of wage, salary, rent and credit controls the ideas of specialists are being assembled.

While Congress would have to pass any stabilization law, ODM, as part of its planning function, is readying drafts of emergency legislation, including proposal for a 90-day freeze order.

Aware of past difficulties, ODM is using a section-by-section technique in working out regulations intended to be applicable to long-range controls. ODM officials feel this "loose-leaf" notebook of provisions could be assembled rapidly, once the nature of an emergency is known, thus accelerating the writing of a complete stabilization bill.

In World War II, it took more than five months to get the Emergency Anti-Inflation Act of 1942 enacted.

Badly tilled acres with unkempt buildings and delapidated fences is an offense to the eye. Half starved cattle are unhappy and neglected by poor farmers. Our field of labor may be different, but the principal is identical. "Let the fields rejoice, and all that is therein." — 1 Chron. 16:32.

Adult Delinquency Marches On

How about a big switch from the fight against juvenile delinuency to a fight against adult delinquency, if only for experimental purposes? How the kids manage to do as well as they do — even the worst of them —with so many grown-ups setting a pattern for under-the-wet-behavior is a mystery. This column propose that a national drive to investigate adult delinquency be undertaken in the hope of checking it before the small fry are degraded any further by the national scene. We had better hurry.

The other day a group of U.S. Senate pages, kids between 14 and 16 who have to get up at 5 a.m. every day to be at school from 6:30 to 9:45 before going to their Senate duties, got arrested for shooung out some Washington street lights with air guns. From the fast suspensions and hullabaloo you would have thought they had fired on Fort Knox. Yet these kids, and others in trouble for much more serious offenses, must have wondered about the following examples set in the adult world:

1. An ex-governor and a feeder at the public crib for most of his life using his public position of trust to rob the state and defending it on the absurd moralization that the pay for public servants is so small they can't live extravagantly without looting.

2. Community leaders in scores of cities exposed for gypping their own government, as well as home-buyers, in nefarious Federal Housing Agency operations involving crooked appraisals, mortgage loan twice the value of the project etc.

3. Income tax top official in several communities convicted of crooked operations.

4. Five percenters, international playboys, fixers, sleezy Hollywood tramps defying all the standards of decency, and many of our richest men and women making a racket of divorce.

5. Scores of top scientist holding that falsehoods, evasions and curious associations should not matter too much in keeping a man in a top government job.

How much better off the country would be if the grown-ups did nothing worse than shoot out some street lights. (Even if the adults limited their misbehavior to doing it with live ammunition it would be a break.) We nominate the Senate page boys as a committee to start the INVESTIGATION INTO ADULT DELINQUENCY at once.

A Senate subcommittee has been probing juvenile delinquency for many mouths and hadn't come up with even a faint suggestion that a switch to grown-ups would be a swell idea. We think it a sign of senatorial delinquency that it hasn't done so.

The kids, it seems to us, need protecuon from the adults. We have been talking the idea over with some small fry. They are all for it. "Why have the probers been picking on us" asked a spokesman, "I think that compared with the grown-ups we are so well behaved there should be an issue of medals."

One of our worries is whether the international situation has been aggravated by the severance of diplomatic relations between Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Russia. Quite a disturbance has followed Mrs. Roosevelt's decision to cut out a planned Moscow trip when the Kremlin refused a visa for an interpreter and we hope the incident won't develop so seriously that a cease-fire will have to be demanded there too.

Is Russia declaring war on American magazines, sympathetic writers and all visits by Mrs. Roosevelt unless made as solo flights.

A New York killer of school children has been alloted FIVE lawyers and will be given the usual psychiatric routine to "determine if he is able to understand the charges and make his defense." A fellow charged merely with stealing a cinnamon bun, parking near a hydrant or spitting in the subway, would be lucky to get one attorney, and the concern for him would end there. . . . The pychiatists, while going over the killer to determine if he didn't get his cereal as a baby and was denied a Cadillac by his parents, will, it is assumed, take time to give an occasional thought to his victims to whom he gave no chance whatever.

Old-Time Fiddling Takes Talent Down Texas Way

By MARTHA COLE

LITTLE RIVER, Tex. (AP)—Take a tentative scratch, a short whine and then roll into it—That's fiddling.

"It takes old people really to fiddle it up," says Mrs. Beatrice Bane of Little River. She's 65.

"I was given a talent I wouldn't take a million dollars for," she said. "I've been playing the fiddle since I was 9 years old back in Indian territory in Oklahoma.

"I can play religious pieces that can make your hair rise.

"I don't know one note from another. But I can hear a tune one time. If I like it, I go around humming it and inside three days I can fiddle it—it'll be that long coming to me."

Mrs. Bane is a thin little gray-haired woman with quick motions. She and her husband live on a farm near Little River.

She's one of the few women who enter the old fiddlers contests held every year in Texas.

Her husband, C. C. Bane, 68, can play the fiddle too.

At the Fourth of July celebration in Belton this year, Bane won first place and his wife won fourth in the old fiddlers contest. But at Temple earlier this year, she beat him.

"No, hon, he isn't jealous," Mrs. Bane said.

"He hasn't learned hardly any new pieces since I knew him. He plays by ear too. All the real old-time fiddlers do.

"But he has some favorite pieces he plays right well. He likes 'Sally Goodin' and 'Tom and Jerry.' I don't play those—those are men's pieces, I think."

What's the difference between fiddling and violin playing?

"Why, breakdown music—that's fiddling, piddling or something.

"There really aren't any new b r e a k d o w n pieces—same old pieces: 'Hell Among the Earth,' 'Done Gone,' 'Eighth of January,' 'Oh Miss Sally, How I Love You,' "

Mrs. Bane thinks there's danger of the old-time fiddlers dying out.

But maybe not.

"There's this young fellow from Temple, O. A. Cathey, about 25. I heard him play in Temple and then I saw him at Belton. I told him, 'Son, you play 'Mockingbird.' He did and won first place in the young fiddlers contest.

"I tell you he's mortally a fiddler."

Bloodmobile Unit To Visit Marion on 2 Days Next Week

The Red Cross Bloodmobile unit will be in Marion next Wednesday and Thursday.

While this is vacation time and picnics, fun and vacations are on the calendar, it also is a time of accidents, emergencies and illness, Red Cross officials pointed out.

It is hoped that residents of the city and county will take time out from vacation festivities and work to visit the center Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church. The hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

On Thursday the unit will be at the Marion Power Shovel Co. where the hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

With the year half spent, Marion County has not met its quota of 150 pints at any visit this year, records show.

Contributions of a pint of blood by Marion County residents provide assurance that when blood is needed by local residents it will be available, the Red Cross pointed out. In June 106 pints of blood were provided for patients at the Marion City Hospital.

Donors are asked to call the chapter office, 2-1653 and register for appointments on Wednesday.

Electronics Win

ST. LOUIS — (UP) — Chivalry isn't dead among St. Louis' policemen, but electronics have made it take a back seat.

When five women drivers, all charged with speeding by the same officer, showed up in court, Assistant City Counselor Roy A. Fish remarked jokingly to the arresting officer, "The age of chivalry must be gone."

"My chivalry is all right," the officer replied. "Those five tickets were handed out because the ladies were clocked by radar speed controls."

WET CLARINET

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (UP)—Joe Simon really got attached to that clarinet he played for years with a circus band. Simon, now a theater manager, said that when he decided to give up playing, he gave the clarinet a "burial" in the sea. He just couldn't bear the idea of selling it.

French Chief Pledges Firm Stand at Hanoi

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—France's newest commander in Indochina, Gen. Paul Ely, pledged last night to make an all-out stand for threatened Hanoi. He denied growing rumors that the north Indochina capital would be abandoned to the Communist-led Vietminh.

Observers here recalled that the French high command made a similar vow to defend the entire Red River delta only a month before it abandoned the southern third of the key area to the rebels.

Ely told newsmen his order pulling French Union troops out of the southern region last week had been issued to shore up the defenses around Hanoi. He said he has also ordered all-out defense of the port of Haiphong and the vital 65-mile supply route linking it with Hanoi.

The commander predicted that a decision whether there would be continued war or cease-fire in Indochina would be reached by July 20. That is the date French Premier Pierre Mendes-France set as his deadline to achieve a truce or resign.

Calhoun rides off with Mitchum's horse and rifle, leaving Marilyn together with Mitchum and his son to the mercies of warring Indians. However, Marilyn proves to be an unwilling traveler and tries to sabotage the raft at every opportunity.

Starting Thursday will be "Garden of Evil" starring Gary Cooper, Susan Hayward and Richard Widmark.

"The Conquest of Everest" is the exciting record of the greatest mountain - climbing adventure story of all, the first successful attempt to reach the topmost summit of Mount Everest.

The National City Bank, $500.

The trustees board was organized for the purpose of accepting and administering gifts and bequests to the hospital.

Fliers Outspend Tourists, U.S. Survey Shows

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — American airmen in Europe are spending more money than all regular U.S. tourists put together.

Air Force headquarters here decided recently to find out how much money the men were spending after hours. One inspiration for the study originated here in Wiesbaden, a German resort city with a famous casino. Dutch tourists had complained to German businessmen about the noise that American jet planes were making in th area. Some of the Dutch swore they would never come back.

"We could have ignored the complaints," said an Air Force spokesman, "but we decided it was better to make a survey of spending habits."

The Air Force discovered that U.S. airmen spent more than 150 million dollars in England, France, Germany and Italy last year. During the same period, the survey showed, U.S. tourists spent about 140 millions.

"I am sure," said the headquarters spokesman, "that not everybody in Europe is interested in having the Americans go home.'

The Air Force gives its men instructions on how not to spend money. One of the main points: don't flash a roll of bills.

America is building churches and other religious structures at the rate of 500 million dollars worth a year, says the National Geographic Society.

Bing Crosby Stars In Film Scheduled For North Drive-In

"Little Boy Lost," a drama starring Bing Crosby with Claude Dauphin and Christian Fourcade, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the North Drive - In Theater.

Crosby plays an American newspaperman who has spent years searching for his young son whom he hasn't seen since his birth, just before the Nazi's invaded France. His wife has been executed for working with the underground and took with her almost all traces of their boy. Through the persistance of a friend, the trail eventually leads to a French orphanage, pointing to a seven-year-old boy.

Billed for Wednesday through Saturday is a double feature of first run attractions, "Fireman Save My Child" starring Spike Jones and his City Slickers along with Buddy Hackett, Hugh O'Brian, Adele Jergens and Tom Brown, and "Charge of the Lancers" with Paulette Goddard and Jean Pierre Aumont.

In "Fireman Save My Child," Spike Jones is the lieutenant in charge of old San Francisco's Firehouse Number 12, and his staff consists of his own City Slickers along with Hackett, O'Brian and Brown. The story is of the first efforts to motorize the fire department.

The latter film is based on the heroic charge of the Lancers during the Crimean War. Aumont and a fellow officer with the Allied forces deliver a new type of cannon to the front lines. When the latter is captured by the Russians, Aumont volunteers to rescue him from the besieged fort. With the help of a gypsy family and posing as the husband of a beautiful gypsy, he gets into the fortress.

'Miss Sadie Thompson' Tops South Drive-In Bill

"Miss Sadie Thompson," a South Seas drama in technicolor starring Rita Hayworth and Jose Ferrer, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the South Drive-In Theater.

The film is the story of a night club entertainer who is stranded on a tiny tropical isle, a U.S. Marine outpost, when her ship is quarantined.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday is a romantic comedy, "Marry Me Again," with Robert Cummings and Marie Wilsn co-starred.

Cummings portrays a jet air ace who returns to America to receive a hero's welcome and announce proudly that he is returning to his mechanic's job with the full intention of supporting Marie, his bride-to-be, on his modest salary. The only trouble is that the prospective mechanic's wife unexpectedly inherits a million dollars and the hero's pride is such that he refuses to take unto himself so wealthy a bride.

The attraction Thursday through Saturday will be "Arrowhead," in technicolor and starring Charlton Heston.

Spring Supplement To Harding High Quiver Completed

With the writing of the final chapter, the history of Harding High School for the school term of 1953-54, is in the hands of the publisher, and the Quiver, school yearbook, is complete.

This year, for the first time in the history of the annual, a spring supplement, with picures and copy telling the story of the students through the final moments of graduation, is included in the price of the year book.

Impressive from the standpoint of cover as well as content, the black and white holder has an original sketch of the school, done by Bob Knachel, sales manager and layout man. The printed end sheets give a full view of the grounds from the air. The opening section of the book gives the plans and construction of the building and many new angles are given to pictures.

Red is the predominate color in the printing and color bands and a process used for the first time in a Quiver gives a variety of layouts.

There are still a number of books available which the staff hopes to sell, Murray Leeper, editor, said today. One thousands of the books have been ordered and anyone interested in purchasing one may call the principal's office at Harding. If the purchaser can not call for the book if will be delivered by a member of the staff.
